REDS ROUT FASCISTS IN DYNAMITE ATTACK

Defenders Gain Upper Hand in Battle Over Last Artery for Supplies.

MADRID, Feb. 15.—(P)—Dynamite throwers, disrupting a tank attack with their primitive but powerful munitions, led government troops to a victory today in defense of the Valencia highway, the war office reported. An insurgent force surged against the defense trenches behind a barrier of tanks, the communists said, but the attack was disorganized under a shower of bursting dynamite bombs. Commanders said government troops seized advantage of the insurgents' futile attack, counter-charged and gained ground.

They said an insurgent air squadron, supporting the attack, bombed defense positions at Morata de Tajuna, one of the objectives of the assault. Spurred by General Jose Miaja's exhortations to drive the insurgents back, government forces gained an upper hand in the defense of the Valencia highway.

War office advisers said the battle for control of Madrid's last open link with eastern sources of supply was continuing virtually without pause, but that the defense army had gained the best of the fighting.

General Miaja, head of the emergency junta, appealed to militiamen to keep pressing "forward, forward, forward," and to Madrid's civil population to make its by-word "sacrifice."

"The moment is not without hope but it is grave. Be prepared to repulse the enemy and attack him when he flees."

Government officers said the drive toward Morata seemed aimed at the highway approach to Perales de Tajuña in order to close off side-road detours which link that point and Ar-ganda, farther east.

(Morata is directly south of Ar-ganda at the junction of secondary roads in the web of highways connecting with the Valencia route.)

VALENCIA BOMBARDED BY INSURGENT CRUISER.
VALENCIA, Spain, Feb. 15.—(P)—The temporary capital of Spain today rounded 22 dead, 35 injured and untold property damage after an insurgent cruiser sent 35 shells crashing into refugee-packed Valencia in a night attack.

Rescue workers searched the ruins for more dead. They said the raid apparently was designed to demoralize the seaport seat of government. The cruiser, creeping close to shore, blazed away at the city for half an hour, and retired only after the government gunboat Laya advanced to give battle.

The railway between France and the autonomous republic of Catalonia, dispatches from Perpignan, France, said, was shattered by bombardment of insurgent aircraft, four planes dumped their cargo on the railway near Portbou, Spain, destroying a long section of track, injuring 12 persons and damaging the railway station.)

8th Buffalo Woman Attacked in Week

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 15.—(P)—An attack on another woman, the eighth within a week, brought further complications to police today as they pressed a search for the killer of blonde, 18-year-old Mary Ellen Babcock.

Miss Margaret Galitzdorfer, 23, the latest victim, said she was dragged into an alley and slugged by two men early this morning. The men were frightened away, she said, by her screams.

DUST STORMS SWEEP OKLAHOMA AND TEXAS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 15.—(P)—Dust swept in blinding billows over northwest Texas and most of Oklahoma today for the second time in two days.

The worst storm raged in the panhandles of the two states, where visibility dropped to one block at Guyton, Okla., and Amarillo and Borger, Texas.

Dust-laden winds pushed into eastern and central Oklahoma, and far southward to Ardmore, where dust cut visibility to one mile and was growing steadily worse.

Manum, swept by dusts last week, reported another storm blowing in out of the northwest.

Dry weather was responsible for the storm, regarded as the worst this year.

CHURCH INDEPENDENCE IS RESTORED BY HITLER

Nazis Tell Evangelical Members To Run Own Affairs.

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—(P)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler put evangelical church affairs back in the hands of the church's electorate tonight.

Asserting an officially-appointed reich church committee had "not succeeded in bringing about unity in the German evangelical church," Hitler issued a decree ordering the church to choose its own synod to conduct its activities.

The decree, issued from Der Fuehrer's home at Berchtesgaden, near Munich, declared:

"The church shall henceforth make its own constitution and therewith bring about order in complete freedom and according to the wishes of the church members."

"I empower the reichsminister for church affairs (Hans Kerrl) to this end to prepare for an election of a general synod and take all necessary measures."

Hitler's order, informed Protestant sources said, came on the heels of flat refusal by the evangelicals to accept a plan by Kerrl to run the church through a state commissioner.

It was understood the Nazi minister had intended to announce today the appointment of a single state officer to take the place of the church council which resigned Saturday, thus creating virtually a state church.

ROOSEVELT'S SON'S LIFE SAVED BY DYE PROCESS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(P)—Francis P. Garvan, of the Chemical Foundation, New York, told the senate finance committee today that "Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. is alive because of a development of our domestic dye industry."

Garvan said young Roosevelt recovered from a recent streptococcal throat infection because of the use of a chemical which was a "waste product of the dye industry."

He cited the treatment of the President's son as an argument in favor of protecting the domestic chemical industry.

FLORIDA HUNTS MORON IN GIRL'S RAZOR DEATH

Youngster's Throat Slit From Ear to Ear on Her Way Home.

MADISON, Fla., Feb. 15.—(UP)—A razor-wielding moron who worked with diabolical cunning was sought tonight as the man who murdered 12-year-old Mary Jenkins as the blue-eyed little girl walked home alone from a movie.

Her throat, slashed from ear to ear, apparently by one deft stroke of a razor, the little girl was found dead in an abandoned planing mill on the edge of town after her frantic mother, Mrs. Nellie Jenkins, had started a city-wide search.

Probe at Impasse.
Chief of Police M. H. Waring, who adjourned an inquest until Saturday morning, admitted that baffling circumstances of the slaying had brought his investigation to an impasse.

Physicians who examined her body said she had not been criminally assaulted.

Although she had bled profusely from her slashed throat, her little brown woolen skirt and matched sweater were not blood-stained, police said. This led to the theory her slayer may have killed her elsewhere and carried her body to the planing mill where her clothing may have been replaced after she was dead.

The girl's body was placed carefully on the floor of the old mill. There were no marks on the body to indicate she had resisted her slayer. Aside from the wound which caused her death, only a few faint finger-nail scratches were found on her body.

No Clues.
"We have absolutely no clues on which to work," Chief Waring said. "The coroner's jury will be called back Saturday morning, and by that time we hope to have made some progress."

Perry Jenkins, the girl's father, came here from Miami to aid in the hunt for the slayer today. Mrs. Jenkins' alarm was promptly raised.

J. P. Suggs, a cousin of the little girl, was working with police in the case.

"We don't have much to work on," he said, "but we believe a state man did it. There are some circumstances about the case that don't appear to have been the work of a negro."

"Although we've questioned everybody who might have seen Mary after she left the movie at 9 p. m., we haven't been able to learn anything definite. So far as I can find out, no suspicious men had been seen around the neighborhood."

ABDUCTION RING HUNTED IN GIRL'S DISAPPEARANCE

COATESVILLE, Pa., Feb. 15.—(P)—Police investigating the disappearance five days ago of Helen Morer, 16-year-old high school student, said today an abduction ring might have been responsible. The girl disappeared while walking from a Coatesville school to her home at Modena, three miles south of here.

QUESTIONING PRESSED IN RAVISH SLAYING

SPARTA, N. C., Feb. 15.—(P)—County and federal officers pushed a close questioning of residents of the Saddle Mountain community, 15 miles from here, in their effort today to solve the ravish-slaying of 16-year-old Elva Brannock, whose body was found last Friday after she had been missing five days. Sheriff Walter M. Irvin jailed a third man in connection with the case, but he indicated that none of the three was considered the perpetrator of the crime.

Brumback Team Captures Southern-National Title of Association.

An Atlanta bridge team, captained by John Brumback, was announced winner yesterday of the southern-national championship of the United States Bridge Association. The championship team is composed of Brumback, Dr. Charles E. Hall Jr., Hugh R. Smith Jr. and Mrs. Lucille Thompson. The tourney was held at Birmingham.

Disagreement developed between the Atlanta players and the Tampa team and the latter forfeited after 18 of the 36 boards had been played.

The Atlantans met the Tampa team after defeating a Mississippi team by 2,300 points in the semi-final match. The new southern champions will receive a free trip to the U. S. B. A. grand-national tourney at New York in April.

MARINE VIOLENCE FLARES ON COAST

Fighting Breaks Out Between Rival Unions in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—(P)—One man was stabbed in the back and six others injured in a street clash here today, described by police as a battle between rival longshoremen's groups as an aftermath to the recent 98-day maritime strike.

Meanwhile, seamen in Los Angeles opened a new court attack on provisions of the federal maritime safety act, threatening maritime peace.

Rioting broke out here between stevedores of the International Longshoremen's Association, recognized dockmen's union, and an independent group headed by Lee J. Holman, which has failed to obtain employer recognition.

The riot occurred after about 200 negro members of the Holman group had sought to register with the I. L. A. and been told there were no openings.

Facing 10 Years on Gang, Man 'Would Rather Die'

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(P)—With the cry "I'd rather die," Charles Garcia, 26-year-old Cuban, begged Federal Judge Alfred G. Cox today to send him to jail for 40 years rather than send him back to serve out a 10-year term on a Florida chain gang.

"For God's sake, judge," he pleaded, "give me the limit. Give me 40 years—give me life. I'd rather die than go back to that gang. It would be worse than death."

Judge Cox sentenced Garcia to 10 years in prison following his plea of guilty to an indictment charging him with the sale of one-half ounce of narcotics to a federal officer.

A year ago, police said, Garcia escaped from the chain gang at the Raiford, Fla., state farm after allegedly shooting a man who stood in the way to freedom.

He had been sentenced in 1935 on conviction of breaking and entering. Previously, in 1927, he was sentenced to the Florida state farm for five years on the same charge.

NEW LIFE PHILOSOPHY SEEN AS NEXT CHANGE BY ROTARY'S FOUNDER

Paul Harris, of Chicago, Addresses Local Club at Anniversary Celebration.

Revolution in the American philosophy of life was predicted yesterday before the Atlanta Rotary Club by Paul P. Harris, of Chicago, founder and president emeritus of the international organization.

Rotary International is now celebrating the anniversary of its founding in 1906 in Chicago.

"Manufacturing," Harris said in predicting the revolution, "gave itself to the conclusion there is no such thing as perfection. To this philosophy can be ascribed the great progress in business during the past 20 years."

"The philosophy that brought revolution in business is now here and that of life is approaching in other ways—we are still in the horse and buggy days in some of our thinking. We have been concerning ourselves too much with one thing and that has been the acquisition of possessions. Keeping up with the Joneses has been a fundamental thing in life," Harris said.

"Industry has been ready to turn things inside out to progress, but not so with thinking."

"But when this country of ours gets to the point of changing its ways it does it pretty rapidly . . . and I think we are coming to it," Harris said in recalling a prediction made by Charles Steinmetz, inventive genius, who, when asked what invention often leaves happiness behind.

He pointed to the large number of depression suicides among men who lost great sums of money. "They had no philosophy of life, and life was not worth living when they were deprived of their possessions. Yet 10,000 Chicago school teachers were working without getting their salaries at the same time, but there were no suicides—educators do not go into their work for the acquisition of money."

Adversity Finest Teacher.

The accumulation of fortunes to be passed to children was hit by Harris in his talk, as harmful to the children of the man striving for the accumulation of money as the child of the man striving for the acquisition of money.

The celebration of the anniversary of the founding of Rotary International is being observed in Atlanta throughout the month, with yesterday's luncheon considered the high spot.

Five Harris' were among the celebrants. In addition to Paul Harris, there were Jake C. Harris, district governor of Rotary; Evelyn Harris, local president; William C. Harris, who was inducted into membership yesterday; and Arthur Harris.

The Atlanta club was formed in 1915, being the 134th club. Today 4,000 clubs are in existence.

Visitors attended the luncheon yesterday from all sections of the fifth district, with delegations from Athens, LaGrange, Griffin, Marietta, Macon, West Point, Cartersville, Summerville and Cuthbert. One Rotarian present, Herbert Warren, was a resident of Madrid, Spain.

Shoulder to shoulder with the carpenters and joiners stand their sources of employment, the Associated General Contractors of America, Inc., Georgia branch, with offices in the Red Rock building.

To Congressman Ramspeck, Executive Secretary Hugh W. Roberts, of the contractors' association, had this to say about the resolutions adopted by the union:

"It appears to us that in objecting to that provision (the undistributed profits tax), our friends, the carpenters, showed themselves, on the average, more statesmanlike than the members of congress, on the average. It is obviously true that it is folly for the United States government to encourage construction in every other respect and to discourage construction in any specific respect. As construction means employment and increased revenue through taxation to various governments, construction in every respect should be encouraged, not only 90 per cent as it is now encouraged by the government, but 100 per cent."

"We would like to be recorded through you as joining the carpenters in protesting against the perpetuation of what is a palpable government faux pas."

PIQUETT, GANG AIDE, IS REFUSED PAROLE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Arthur D. He was sentenced for harboring a member of the Dillinger gang.

Piquett entered the federal penitentiary July 27, 1935, and was eligible for parole last January 8. The board refused his application today after studying a report based on a hearing January 22.

CITY MAPS PROGRAM FOR U.S. DEFENSE WEEK

Series of Observances Are Planned To Be Climaxed on February 22.

Atlanta officially recognized and endorsed the observance of National Defense Week yesterday as Lieutenant Colonel C. M. Boyer, Atlanta chairman, announced a series of programs for the week which will be climaxed on February 22.

Council adopted a resolution by Councilman John A. White calling attention to National Defense Week and commending the organizations actively participating in the program.

Colonel Boyer announced yesterday that a series of radio and civic club programs will be launched today with the Kiwanis, Rotary and Civic Clubs hearing a message calling attention to the need for adequate army, navy and air forces.

First in a series of radio talks will be heard tonight, when Major General George Van Horn Moseley, commander of the fourth corps area and the third army, speaks on national defense at 9:30 o'clock over WSB. Lieutenant Colonel Fonville McWhorter and Lieutenant Colonel L. A. Falligan will be heard at 6:15 o'clock tomorrow night in a program over WGST, and Lieutenant Commander Jesse Draper and Captain Reed M. Fawell, professor of naval science and tactics, will be heard in another program over WGST at 6:15 o'clock Friday night. Major Willis Everett is radio chairman.

Lieutenant Colonel Wolcott P. Hayes, air officer of the Fourth Corps area, will be speaker at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night at the Georgia Tech armory before the Atlanta chapter, Reserve Officers' Association. Lieutenant Colonel Chester Martin, president, announced yesterday.

Colonel Hayes will speak on the capacity for 26 years. He was a charter member and a director of the Associated Press, always active in his newspaper work.

Trustee of University.

"For 20 years he was a member of the board of trustees of the University of Georgia and was succeeded on that board by his son, Major Clark Howell, president and publisher of The Constitution since the death of his distinguished father."

"Thirty-six years ago Clark Howell was in the service of his state as a state senator. In the educational, political, social and economic affairs of Georgia, he was one of her leading figures for more than half a century."

"Clark Howell was intimately associated with national affairs and public men. In 1922 he was appointed by President Coolidge as a member of the national coal commission; in 1932 he was appointed by President Hoover as a member of the national transportation commission. By President Franklin D. Roosevelt, his personal friend, he was called to serve as head of the important federal aviation commission."

At Philadelphia, in June, 1936, Clark Howell was again elected unanimously as national committeeman from Georgia. He served the state as national committeeman longer than any other Georgian. At the time of his death he was the oldest member of the national committee in point of service as well as years."

As a dependable and trustworthy adviser; as a loyal Democrat, always fighting the battles of his party; as a great editor and a great friend and comrade to the young and to the old, Clark Howell rendered distinguished service to his state and nation. He fought in every great battle for democracy in Georgia and the south for half a century. He passed away in the ripeness of years with the confidence, esteem and love of his fellow citizens, one of the best known men in the state and nation. He was a kindly, genial friend and adviser but he was a great warrior at the head of the south's leading newspaper and his services to his party and to his country entitle him to high rank in the history of the Democratic party, his state and nation."

BOY SCOUT TOO AMBITIOUS.

Mrs. Clarence Henry, of Rochester, N. Y., decided that at least one Boy Scout was overly enthusiastic about doing his good turn. ## The Pulse of the People

The columns of The Constitution are always open to the expression of the public, regardless of the opinion expressed. The only limitation on communications is that they shall be signed, be brief—preferably not longer than two or three hundred words—and not libelous. All communications will be subject to editing, and none will be returned unless postage is inclosed.

AN ALL-AMERICAN STAND

Editor Constitution: I cannot resist the impulse of commending you on your editorial in this morning's Constitution, regarding the supreme court. It is the strongest, straight forward all-American stand that could be put before the people of America. It goes to show that The Atlanta Constitution stands on all fours for the principles of the American government. It was founded on and discharges partisan policies, when an infringement against the foundation of our supreme court is threatened.

It is a time when every true American should speak up, stick together and save the greatest system of government the world ever knew, and keep it where it is and where it should stay.

When a change is made in our form of government, let it be done in a democratic way by the vote of the people.

SAM N. THOMPSON,
Justice of the Peace,
East Point, Ga., Feb. 13, 1937.

REFLECTS PUBLIC SENTIMENT

Editor Constitution: I congratulate The Constitution upon the editorial dealing with the proposed "reform" of the supreme court through the appointment of additional justices. It is worthy of the best traditions of The Constitution and I am sure that it expresses the sentiment of most of your readers.

Congratulations again, and good wishes.

S. C. HEINDEL,
Publisher Northeast Georgian,
Cornelia, Ga., Feb. 13, 1937.

TIME TO ADHERE TO PRINCIPLE

Editor Constitution: It was with much pleasure and much satisfaction that I read the editorial in this morning's Constitution under the heading, "The Supreme Court Must Remain Independent."

I agree with you fully in everything you say, and I commend you for the stand you have taken in view of the fact your paper has been an ardent supporter of the administration all along.

There are times when principle and patriotism, as each one may understand it, should rise above all other considerations, and a decided stand be taken. This you have done. Very likely there is no other single influence that has contributed to the general contempt of law and the courts than this body of nine old men.

CARL E. MORGAN,
Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 13, 1937.

MANUFACTURERS' BODY PRAISES EDITORIAL

Editor Constitution: We take great comfort from the editorial appearing in your paper this morning, "Supreme Court Must Remain Independent." It took courage and a high-minded patriotism to take the stand you did, at a time when many would change our institutions for temporary profit. Your position as a constant supporter of President Roosevelt, in all that is for the good of our country, is bound to show your advice as a friendly suggestion and not as the outburst of a carping critic.

The supreme court, in spite of a few demagogues who would tear it down and destroy its usefulness, is really a sacred body, and has always been regarded something really apart from political bodies with constitutions. We trust that it will always remain so and that our representatives in the congress will put aside political thought and, by their action, convince our president that radical changes affecting this body would be unwise and not calculated to inspire confidence in other national institutions.

This association extends to you its congratulations on the editorial and its thanks for speaking out for the people of Georgia. We hope that the example set by you will be followed by all of our colleagues of the southern press.

J. P. McGRATH,
Secretary-Treasurer, Georgia Manufacturers' Association,
Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 13, 1937.

MRS. NELSON PRAISES EDITORIAL ON COURT

Editor Constitution: Franklin Roosevelt's most powerful defender in Georgia, The Atlanta Constitution, strongly opposes the proposed changes in the supreme court. By a convincing array of facts, it shows the danger of such a change. This editorial has the true patriotic ring, the ring of that Atlanta Constitution which for so many years made it the most influential and beloved daily in the state. The Constitution is never afraid to publish facts which have happened and are important. It has done this on innumerable occasions.

Thank you with all my heart, Mr.

Editor, for your powerful editorial, "Supreme Court Must Remain Independent." I will paste it on my mirror, read it and get others to read it.

MRS. J. O'KEEFE NELSON,
Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 13, 1937.

FEELS SUPREME COURT IGNORES POOR MAN

Editor Constitution: On the farm and in the factory, I have always been told by my fellow workers that the poor man can never "get anywhere," because all legislation for his benefit passed by congress always has been, and always will be, declared "unconstitutional" by the supreme court.

Time and again the court has proved its susceptibility to the influence of big business, as against the needs of the lowly workingman. Very likely there is no other single influence that has contributed to the general contempt of law and the courts than this body of nine old men.

CARL E. MORGAN,
Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 13, 1937.

MOST VITAL ISSUE IN MANY YEARS

Editor Constitution: Your editorial on the supreme court fully covers the issue and is unanswerable.

In my opinion this issue is the most vital one that has been raised within my memory. It strikes at the very heart of a free and independent form of constitutional government. If our supreme court is so organized that it will decide cases on any other basis than upon law, justice and equity as applied to the facts in the particular case being tried, then the last bulwark of our liberties is gone. If the court is to be the mere servant of the executive then it would be better to abolish it altogether.

I most heartily commend the stand you have taken and hope you will wage a tireless warfare against this destructive movement until the victory is won and our established form of constitutional government is saved.

The confidence of the people in your honesty and patriotism and your sound judgment based on your past record, gives you great power, and I hope and believe you will use it in this crisis.

W. T. TUGGLE,
LaGrange, Ga., Feb. 13, 1937.

PRAISES EDITORIAL IN THE CONSTITUTION

Editor Constitution: I write you my heartiest approval of the editorial appearing in The Constitution this morning, February 13, entitled "Supreme Court Must Remain Independent." A fuller or clearer expression on this subject would be hard to find in any publication.

There are so many fine editorials in The Constitution from day to day that it is hard to pick one that is better than another, but the one in today's issue is so particularly strong and expressive of what should be the reasonable attitude of all thinking citizens regarding this question that it is to be earnestly received by the general attention of the public it so richly deserves.

JAMES KEMPTON,
Publisher Fulton County Daily Report,
Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 13, 1937.

LOGICAL POSITION ON SUPREME COURT

Editor Constitution: Some of my customers and myself on occasion differ with your views and your editorials but several called me today and asked that I be sure to read today's editorial on your supreme court issue. I have done, and I wish to congratulate you sincerely as it is very fine and very logical.

C. B. BLAKEMAN,
Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 13, 1937.

DOUBTFUL OF NATION'S DESIGNATION

Editor Constitution: I feel it both a duty and a pleasure to congratulate you on the editorial in this morning's Constitution.

The supreme court issue is forcing the country to take notice of the trend of things in general and of the New Deal in particular. The country may not know where it is headed, but it is on its way, and its destination appears to have nothing in common with anything Democratic or Republican.

In coming out and taking its stand on the side of the orderly processes of government, The Constitution is living up to its traditions.

T. B. HIGDON,
Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 13, 1937.

FEELS NATION FACES SERIOUS CRISIS

Editor Constitution: Your editorial in Saturday's issue is the ablest discussion of the problem thrust upon the nation by the President's message to congress on the supreme court that I have anywhere seen.

I am so thankful for the courage of editors and statesmen in this crucial hour. It is my judgment that we face the most serious moment in our nation since the days of the War Between the States. The problem is a totally different one in nature, but its implications are as serious and far more dangerous. Everything for which our fathers fought and suffered in coming away from Europe and establishing here a government of the people, for the people, and by the people, is now definitely in jeopardy. If our government is preserved, it will be along the line of checks and balances as provided in the constitution. If one branch of the government can succeed in bringing both the other branches into subjection, democracy is destroyed.

Your great editorial should arouse every citizen in Georgia to write our representatives in Washington, giving them the assurance of our support.

(REV.) LOTTIE D. NEWTON,
Pastor Druid Hills Baptist Church,
Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 13, 1937.

and then taken to the Atlanta police station, where he was marked "Hold for chief of police of College Park."

Chief Robert W. Moore, of College Park, reported he found a note in Bentley's pocket, which indicated he had meant to kill his wife, children and himself.

The note, addressed to his mother, Mrs. A. D. Bentley, of 277 Washington street, read:

"Mama, get my suitcase at Capitol avenue and Richardson street. I am dying. I have lost all. We will all go together. Bury me with Kitty and Mary."

An apparent postscript was appended to the note:

"And get the tricycle at 562 Capitol avenue. Give them to J. B. and the clothes sales. Your suitcase is there also. They think I am crazy, but I am not. I told her I was not going to have any boys taken and she was not going to take them. I would die first. Love to everybody, Charlie."

Police are awaiting the outcome of Mrs. Bentley's injuries before placing charges against her husband.

Mother, Daughter, 5, Burned to Death

WINCHESTER, Va., Feb. 15.—(AP)—A grief-stricken farmer lay to rest today in a hospital here the mother and five-year-old daughter who died in flames that destroyed their farmhouse before dawn today.

The farmer, James Rexrode, 30, himself dangerously injured while assisting two other children through second-story window, said the front stairs of his home evidently collapsed with Mrs. Rexrode as she attempted to flee to safety with his daughter, Lillie Mae.

REPUDIATED REGIMES PACK BAR, SAYS MINTON

a field where they have no restraint except that imposed by their own conscience.

"Court Packed Now."

Reviewing previous changes in the size of the court, Minton said:

"It is said that this is an attempt to pack the court. How do we find the court today? It is packed now by appointees of administrations gone and repudiated. Do you think that Harding, Coolidge or Hoover were qualified to pick judges for the supreme court but Roosevelt is not? I think the court is already packed, and this bill will unpack it."

Minton saw a constitutional amendment as unnecessary as long as there was power to act in the method Mr. Roosevelt proposed. Besides, he asserted, constitutional amendment is a difficult way.

"Witness the child labor amendment," he said. "For 13 years it has been wandering in the wilderness and still lacks nine states of being an authorized amendment."

"Have Faith in F.D.R."

Minton closed with an appeal to the nation to have faith in the President. "Who among you believe that the President of the United States who stood by you in the darkest hours that ever dawned in peacetime in America, and saved you and this country from God knows what suffering and distress, is now your enemy, a traitor to you, his countrymen, and scheming and plotting to get power into his hands to injure you?" he asked.

"This is no effort on the part of the President to steal power upon himself. In less than four short years such power as you so enthusiastically gave him by your vote of confidence last November will be returned to you. I have faith in him to believe that when that time shall come you will find him no traitor to you or the best interests of our beloved country."

Glass Is Critical.

Minton's speaking time was advanced an hour so that he would not conflict with time allotted President Roosevelt in connection with a testimonial dinner to Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Foes of the court reorganization plan said they were not impressed by Cummings' address last night. Senator Edward H. Burton, Democrat, Nebraska, said his arguments were "easily answered," but Glass was far more bitter.

"I think it indicates that the country is in infinitely greater need of an attorney general than of additional judges on the supreme court," he said.

A meeting of house opposition to the reform bill was called for tomorrow by Representative E. E. Cox, Democrat, Georgia.

Atlanta Man Invents New Rayon Machine

Standing proudly by a new invention which its backer and inventor claim "will revolutionize the rayon industry" are (left) L. R. Muse, financial backer, and John Dove, inventor of the machine, which, it is said, uses a new process of making rayon from pine pulp.

Atlantan Invents Rayon Machine Claimed To Simplify Production

Industry Will Be Revolutionized by Process, Declares Producer; Machine Will Be Kept in South, He Says, Telling of $500,000 Offer.

Ties, dresses, hose and scores of other articles made from wood are no new story in these days of the miracle of rayon.

But out at 1005 Spring street, behind a commonplace looking store front, was revealed yesterday the story of a machine which its backer and inventor claim will revolutionize the rayon industry.

For this machine works out a new process of making rayon from pine pulp, a process so radically different from present ones that its commercial possibilities are claimed as unlimited.

First, meet the backer, L. R. Muse, and the inventor, John Dove, two Atlanta men, close friends, to whom the machine and its process are almost real people.

Dove, who eats, sleeps and drinks the combination of carbon steel, bobbins and spindles which is the machine, was explaining it to a man from Rome, a mill owner.

"This is a machine for the spinning of rayon from pine pulp," said Dove. Prior to this invention, he declared, the machines were in sections, expensive to operate, expensive to maintain, and expensive to manufacture.

Toy Gun Robberies Laid to House Maid

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A 25-year-old house maid was arrested today as the "woman in black" blamed for a series of all-night restaurant holdups performed with a toy pistol.

The dark-haired, sharp-featured woman, who gave her name as Norma Parker, was seized in a Columbus avenue restaurant.

Thomas Haasapas, the night manager, said she had drawn what appeared to be a very businesslike firearm—but wasn't—and told him: "Let me have what you've got."

The manager reported he had seized her and with the aid of a patron had shoved her into a telephone booth for safekeeping.

Both are emphatic that they will "keep the machine in the south and won't sell out."

Dove said he already has declined a half-million-dollar offer to sell outright the patent, which was filed July 17, 1936.

BLOCKADE IS VOTED BY NEUTRALITY GROUP

would ratify the subcommittee's decision at a meeting called for tomorrow.

If Portugal continued in her refusal to participate, they declared, the other powers would go right ahead in arranging to blockade her coast as well as that of Spain to make the plan effective.

The naval patrol program resulted from the refusal of both the Valencia government and the insurgent administration to permit neutral observers to be stationed on their territory.

The ships, while having no authority to stop and search suspected vessels, would report their movements to the international committee and governments would be asked to penalize the owners.

Ships en route to Spain would be compelled to stop at certain ports where committee representatives would examine them to ascertain that they contained neither war materials nor volunteers.

French Premier Leon Blum's sudden bellicose stand regarding Italian aid to the Spanish insurgents was believed to have influenced the subcommittee to take serious action.

Blum, in Paris, warned Italy that France will not tolerate the "open invasion of Spain," asserting French patience is being taxed near the point of independence of action.

Two British destroyers, the Havock and the Gypsy, fired on an airplane "believed to be an insurgent Spanish plane," which attempted to bomb them off the coast of Algeria, London official sources said.

Whitehall, evidently angered over the reported attempt to bomb the British destroyers Havock and Gypsy, dispatched immediate, vigorous protests to insurgent authorities at Palma, Mallorca, and to the seat of the insurgent administration at Salamanca, Spain.

A Junkers Plane

Official sources described the attacking plane, which dropped six bombs near the war vessels but caused no damage, as "apparently a Junkers (German) machine." The Havock and Gypsy were stationed near Cape Tenez en route from Gibraltar to Malta to join their squadrons, naval sources said.

Socialist Premier Blum's warning to Italy came with the Spanish insurgents' successes of the past 10 days.

In a long conversation, informed sources said, Blum told Vittorio Cerutti, Italian ambassador to France, that the landing of Italian troops from an Italian warship near Malaga, Spain, was a flagrant violation of Italy's non-intervention pledges and was viewed by France as a potential menace to its communications with North Africa.

Malaga was taken by the Insurgents last week.

French Demand

The French premier authorized Charles Corbin, French ambassador to Great Britain, to lay before the international neutrality committee a demand for a neutral naval patrol of the Spanish coast by February 28, with or without the consent of reluctant Portugal.

Portuguese refusal to permit the combined fleets of Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy—with Russia included under a compromise adopted last week—to establish such a patrol still was a stumbling block. The idea of the patrol is to keep foreign men and arms out of the Spanish war zone.

Portuguese attendance today at a meeting of a subcommittee of the non-intervention control group was widely regarded as a hopeful sign.

Significance also was attached to the summons to Pablo de Azcarate y Florez, Spanish ambassador to Great Britain, to attend the session at which all six members were represented.

AMBITIONS IN SPAIN ARE DENIED BY ITALY

PARIS, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Italian Ambassador Vittorio Cerutti, warned by Premier Leon Blum that France would not stand for "open invasion of Spain," was understood tonight to have assured Blum that Italy has no territorial or other ambitions in Spain.

Sources close to the French Premier said Cerutti declared Italy's help to the Insurgents was not official, but was designed to offset foreign aid given the Valencia government.

2 Cubans Sentenced In Newspaper Blast

HAVANA, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Consuelo Gonzalez Hernandez, an attractive Cuban brunet, and Alberto Gomez Martinez were sentenced today to terms of 10 years and a day in prison on charges of possessing explosives.

The charges grew out of the dynamiting of the El Pais newspaper plant September 20, 1936. Five persons were killed and a number injured in the blast.

When found, Mr. Hargrove was sitting in his chair at his desk, a .38-caliber revolver, identified as his, lying on the floor between his feet.

An inquest was held yesterday afternoon at the H. M. Patterson Funeral Home. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of "suicide by pistol shot wounds of skull."

Police reported J. E. Burns, elevator operator of the Chamber of Commerce building, said he took Mr. Hargrove to his floor early yesterday morning and he appeared in "good humor and cheerful mood." This was substantiated by J. E. Cook and T. F. Thompson, office occupants of the building, who rode up in the elevator with Hargrove.

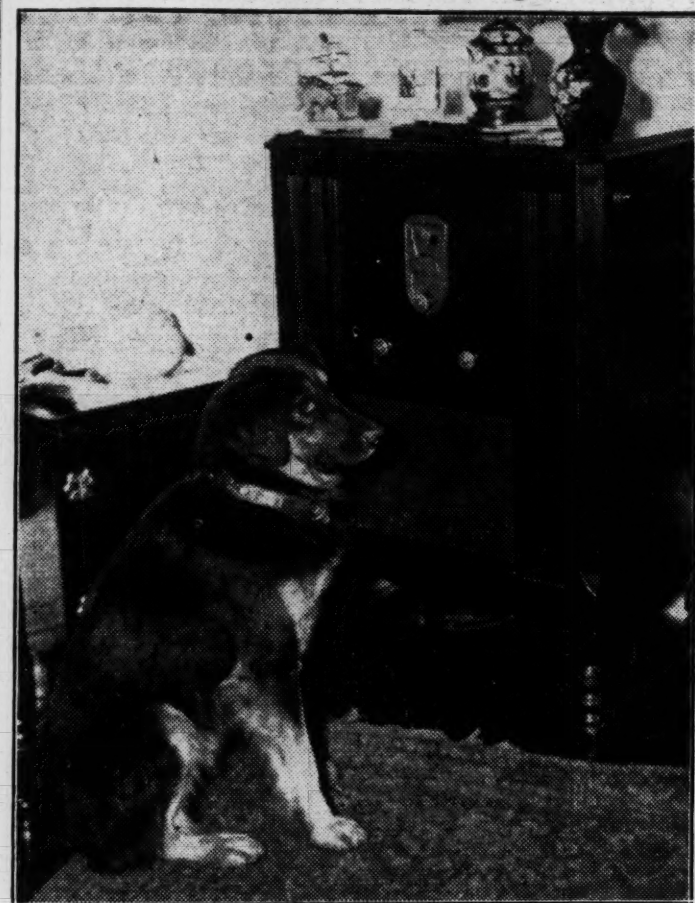

The attorney was born and reared at Milledgeville and attended Georgia Military College there. He later was graduated from the Atlanta Law School and had practiced law in Atlanta for the past 28 years.

He was a member of St. Mark Methodist church, Palestine Lodge No. 486, F. & A. M., and Knights Templar. He was a 32nd degree Mason and had been secretary of the Palestine lodge for 14 years.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Miss Harriet Hargrove; two sisters, Mrs. O'Neil Kierwood and Mrs. Mary Lucy Hinson, both of Bennettville, S. C., and two brothers, Fernor B. Hargrove and Harry Hargrove, both of Milledgeville.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill, with Dr. Lester Rumble officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

In the picture on the right, Forest is shown with Phillips Lord as he spoke from New York on the "We, the People," broadcast Sunday. "Dynamite," it developed, always lay beside his master's desk when the boy was in the sixth grade, but when Forest was promoted—the dog preferred to remain at his old station.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The treasury has spent $225,000 to operate its $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund, but has "made a little money" in the give-and-take dealings of international exchange.

GOVERNOR IS SPEAKER AT FARLEY BANQUET

name of Jim Farley will suggest the more modern arithmetic of 48 to 2."

The reference was to Farley's prediction forecast that all states but Maine and Vermont would go for Roosevelt.

The chief executive sat at the banquet between Farley—the postmaster general and Democratic national chairman—and Vice President Garner, toastmaster.

The President said it was not a political party or victory gathering, or "even a gathering to hatch some mysterious plot or pull off a coup d'etat."

"The only label appropriate for this occasion is 'Jim Farley and his friends,'" he added.

Governor Rivers, accompanied by state Democratic Chairman Charles S. Reid, of Atlanta, and an official party arrived in Washington this morning. Together with Senators George and Russell, members of the state congressional delegation and several other Georgians he was assigned a special section of several tables.

Rivers is speaker.

During the dinner the Georgia executive was one of four Democratic governors called to the microphone to deliver a brief message of greeting to National Chairman Farley in behalf of their geographical sections of the party. Speaking for the southern states, Governor Rivers said:

"Mr. President, Mr. Toastmaster and other distinguished guests: As Governor of Georgia, the Empire State of the South, the other home of President Roosevelt, in behalf of the people of Georgia, I accept the honor of speaking for the southern states."

Among the prominent Georgians accepting invitations to attend the Farley dinner tonight were the following: P. S. Arkwright, Atlanta; John J. Bousan, Savannah; Harry Branch, Savannah; Hattie Branch, Howell Cone, Savannah; J. Saxton Daniel, Savannah; Cam D. Dorsey, Atlanta; Mrs. Cam D. Dorsey, Alex. ## GIANT REVENUE PLAN STARTED IN CONGRESS

Billions and Half Asked To Finance Treasury and Postal Departments.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The biggest Treasury-Postoffice Department appropriation in history started on its way through congress today. It carries $1,500,955,000 to finance the two departments for the next fiscal year.

House leaders hoped to complete action and send the measure to the senate late this week.

Besides routine expenses, the bill would provide $750,000 for a transatlantic air mail service to begin in November 1. Negotiations have been under way with foreign governments for an agreement under which an American and a British company each would make two trips weekly.

Although the appropriations committee lopped $15,041,067 from the budget estimates for both departments, the total exceeds last year's figure by $234,900,149. An increase of $235,000,000 in the appropriation for the social security act's old-age pension reserve accounts for the increase.

Under the law, this item increases annually but during hearings on the bill, Secretary Morgenthau said the bulk of the money would be invested in the public debt.

The bill would provide a total of $718,485,700 for the Treasury and $782,469,361 for the Postoffice Department.

In addition to $500,000,000 for the old-age reserve account, the major items in the bill included $24,948,000 for the coast guard, $983,810 for the public health service and $7,500,000 for the mint.

Major postal items in the bill were $138,000,000 for letter carriers' salaries, $56,750,000 for railway mail service and $14,250,000 for contract air mail service.

Secretary Morgenthau told the committee the Treasury's 75-cent purchase price for domestic, newly-mined silver under the silver purchase act, was fixed "by coincidence." This figure was considerably above the world market price for the metal, but Morgenthau declined to say whether it constituted a subsidy to the American silver producers.

HONOLULU POLICE HUNT NAVY WIFE ATTACKER

Doctor Inspects Woman, Denies She Was Assaulted.

HONOLULU, FEB. 15.—(AP)—A reported criminal attack upon a naval lieutenant's wife sent police hunting tonight for an unidentified white man who dropped an initialed handkerchief in the garage where she said she was assaulted.

A doctor who examined slim 24-year-old Mrs. Bennett S. Copping said she had not been attacked.

Mrs. Copping told Police Captain Don Hays she was seized early today in her residential apartment building when she stepped outside her room, was dragged 75 feet across an open yard and into the garage.

The woman, whose husband is in command of the submarine S-28, was questioned all day by officers and underwent two examinations.

After the first, Dr. Henry M. Akina, assistant city-county physician, said he found no evidence Mrs. Copping had been harmed and that he would not testify in support of an attack charge.

Police searching the garage found a man's handkerchief bearing the initial "H." The handkerchief was believed to have navy laundry marks. Police said they had ordered laboratory tests.

Lieutenant Copping refused to comment when asked for a statement as he left the police station after questioning.

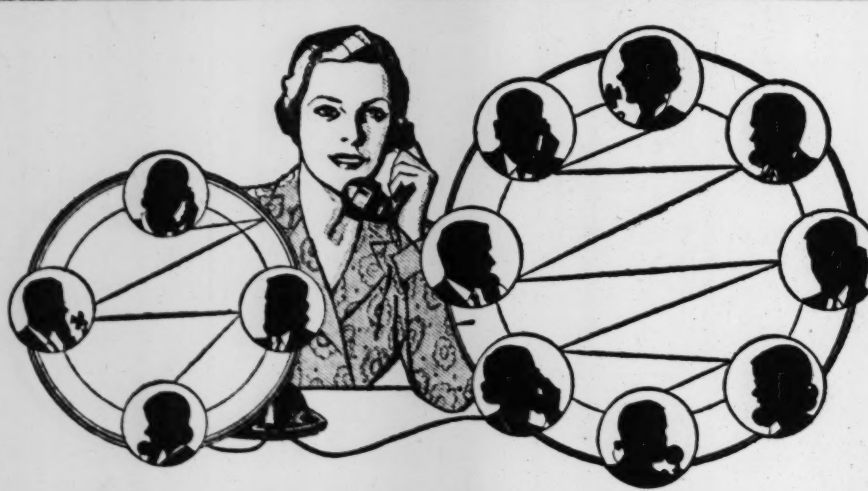

CONFESION CLAIMED IN SHOTGUN SLAYING

A 54-year-old negro man who identified himself as the Rev. Otis Wise, of 104 Chapel street, walked into police headquarters late last night and confessed the shotgun-slaying Saturday night of James Moody, 29, negro, of 328 Markham street, officers reported.

"I killed him, the minister was quoted as telling Detective Lieutenant R. P. Burnett, "because he was going to kill me. He got mad at me because I threatened to call the law after he set a house on fire twice."

Wise was booked on a charge of "suspicion of murder."

To Make NEW FRIENDS AND Keep THE OLD

Your telephone is a means of quick personal contact with those friends and relatives whom you do not visit as often as you would like, especially those who live in other cities.

More and more people who are separated by distances are using "long distance" telephone service to keep friendships alive and to maintain family ties. The relief from anxiety and the pleasure of hearing a friendly, cheerful voice, give satisfaction and value which are almost priceless.

Yet the cost of a telephone conversation between friends or relatives who are miles apart is surprisingly low. You can get an idea of the low cost of "long distance" from the lists of cities and rates which you will find in the front section of your telephone directory.

If the town you wish to call is not listed in the front of your telephone directory, just ask your "long distance" operator. She will gladly quote rates to any point.

SUBSTITUTE MEASURE FOR TEXTBOOK BILL ADOPTED IN SENATE

Patten Charges Trust Had
Hand in Drafting House-
Supported Paper.

Substitute for the house-approved school book measure was adopted by the senate yesterday after Senator L. L. Patten, of Lakeland, charged the "school book trust" had a hand in drafting the house bill.

Patten, a fellow-townsmen of Governor Rivers, is chairman of the senate education committee, and is steering all administration school legislation through that body.

Meanwhile the house gave its approval to the Rivers-sponsored bill setting up a secondary system of public roads. The roads are now the state rural routes.

Representative Sutton, the house floor leader, explained that the secondary road system would be financed by increased auto tag prices for commercial trucks and buses.

There was no opposition to the bill and it was approved 174 to 0.

The senate also gave final legislative approval during the day to the Rivers-sponsored proposal giving the general assembly the right to convene itself.

To Be Voted On.
The proposal, a constitutional amendment, was approved without a dissenting vote. It previously was approved by the house. The amendment will be voted on by the people in the next general election, which probably will be in June.

The senate also set as a special order of business for Thursday a property classification amendment which also will be voted on in June, if given approval. This also has the approval of the house and needs only the concurrence of the senate before going to the voters.

The substitute book bill was offered by Senator Patten with the assertion there were so many changes necessary in the house measure that he sought to consolidate them all in a new draft.

Free textbooks for all grades of the public schools is one of the principal items of the administration program.

"Let's not pass a bill that will tie Governor Rivers and the State Board of Education hand and foot with mandatory provisions," Patten said in attacking the house measure.

Trust Cries Heard.
Cries of "school book trust" were heard from house members as the measure went through that body without substantial changes in the original draft last week.

The senate vote on the Patten measure was 39 to 0. It now goes back to the house for reconsideration.

One of the principal changes in the house bill made by the Patten amendment was to give the Board of Education discretionary authority to secure books in any manner necessary to reduce the cost of books to the state, using competitive bids if they desire.

The house bill, Patten said, was silent on the subject of competitive bids.

Another Patten amendment would eliminate the necessity for all books being uniform throughout the state.

Patten said a requirement for uniformity would cause the discard or dumping of millions of dollars of books now in use.

The third major change was to eliminate a provision in the house bill against impairing the obligation of contracts for books now in effect. Patten said there may be fraudulent contracts which the section might have the appearance of attempting to legalize.

Owned by Five Firms.
"The school book crowd is owned by five companies," Patten said, "and they have lobbied in this legislature all during the four terms I have been here. The school book trust does not want free school books, but they want to realize we are going to have them."

"There is no doubt in my mind that the school book trust had a hand in drafting the house bill because it said nothing about competitive bids. I had to get out of town last Friday when they found out I was drafting a substitute bill."

The senate defeated two amendments by Senator Millican, of Atlanta, to insert mandatory provisions in the Patten substitute.

One of these would have required the state board to let local authorities select their own texts from a multiple list of texts adopted. The other would have made it mandatory on the state board to select an advisory committee of professional educators to select texts and report back their recommendations.

The Patten bill leaves it to the state board's discretion to allow local units to select from the multiple list, and leaves the appointment of the advisory committee to the discretion of the board.

Patten accepted an amendment by Senator Lindsay, of Decatur, to provide that where counties already own books different from those adopted as standard by the state board, the board shall compensate the local unit for them or allow their use so long as they remain serviceable.

FACES FLORIDA CHARGE

MARIANNA, Fla., Feb. 15.—(UP)—Survivor of a pistol-shotgun duel in which William Shuler, 47, was killed, Faye Curtis, 48, was recovering to night to face charges growing out of the death.

Shuler, a brother-in-law of George Stone, a Marianna financier, received the full charge of a shotgun in the slaying.

Before he collapsed, however, he drew a pistol and returned Curtis' fire, wounding him.

The shooting occurred in a tourist camp where Curtis allegedly had followed Shuler.

Authorities here deferred a coroner's inquest pending recovery of Curtis.

HEFLIN, Ala., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Two "jealous" gunmen were sought today by Sheriff W. T. Peaslee as the masked slayers of two men shot down last night in a roadhouse near Muscadine, three miles from the Alabama-Georgia line.

Mrs. Hugh Jean McDaniel, county 20-year-old housewife, also was killed by the rain of bullets and was in critical condition in a hospital at Anniston, Ala. A man identified as "Mr. Bell, of Tallapoosa, Ga." was shot in the arm.

Ancient Gun Stirs Post Office Furore

"An unloaded pistol," said to have been carried on the Merrimac more than 70 years ago, renewed its career for a moment yesterday in the office of G. G. Tappan, mail foreman at the old postoffice.

It had been offered by an aged woman, whose name was not revealed, to be sent through the mails to a friend, C. M. Weldon, clerk, decided an examination was in order, and when he took the pistol from its box, it fired in some manner, the bullet lodging in the wall.

The sound of the shot threw a section of the postoffice into turmoil, and postoffice inspectors, who happened to be near by, appeared quickly on the scene, seeking trouble. All they found was an extremely nervous clerk, a mail foreman ditto and a definitely embarrassed woman.

$839,764 for detective services between 1934 and July 31, 1936.

Payments included $419,850 to the Pinkerton National Detective Agency, $138,205 to Industrial Standards Corporation, of Chicago, and smaller sums to 13 other firms.

Anderson testified that he recently had established his own labor information service, hiring three former federal employees—John Pierce, formerly in the United States marshal's office in Detroit, and William Larson and a "Mr. Cunningham," both former Justice Department agents.

Asserting that they would not work "under-cover" nor buy information from factory spies, Anderson said these men would "circulate through towns where our plants are located" to gather data on public opinion and employee relations.

MORGENTHAU OPPOSES BANKS' BOND POLICY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A house committee's records disclosed today a statement by Secretary Morgenthau that privately controlled banks would be better off making commercial loans than investing their deposits in government securities.

"There is no question about that," Morgenthau told a house appropriations subcommittee, "and certainly when we are paying only two and one-half per cent on 17-year bonds, there is every incentive for the banks to go out and make loans in their own communities, but as I said before to the committee, these banks are privately owned and privately controlled.

"You may lead them to the trough, but if they do not want to drink, you can not make them drink."

Morgenthau said banks, including federal reserve banks, held 48.2 per cent of the government bonds outstanding and that the banks' holdings are increasing.

Six Points Remain for Negotiation; More Wages Are Increased.

DETROIT, Feb. 15.—(AP)—General Motors Corporation, many of its production lines already humming in a drive to regain output lost during prolonged strikes, will seek tomorrow a final settlement of issues with the United Automobile Workers of America.

Only two of eight union demands—collective bargaining and union recognition—were settled in the agreement that ended the strikes last Thursday. Six others remain for negotiations starting tomorrow morning.

Developments on the automobile labor front today brought wage increases for hourly workers of two body manufacturing concerns not connected with General Motors. The Briggs Manufacturing Company put into effect today an indefinite increase, based on

DON'T TRIFLE WITH COLDS

Follow this Practical Guide to Better Control of Colds in Your Own Home

- 1. To Help PREVENT Many Colds—Live normally—avoid excesses. Get plenty of fresh air, rest, and sleep. Eat light, wholesome food. Drink plenty of water. Keep elimination regular. Watch yourself and your family after any exposure likely to be followed by a cold. Then—at the first sniffle or sneeze or the slightest irritation in the nose—quick! put a few drops of Vicks Vapo-rub up each nostril. Vapo-rub is specialized medication, expressly designed for the nose and upper throat, where most colds start. Used in time, it helps to prevent many colds or to throw off head-colds in their early stages.
- 2. To RELIEVE a Cold Sooner—If a cold strikes without warning or gets by even the best precautions—as some colds always will—go straight to bed. Eat lightly and drink plenty of water and fruit juices. For prompt relief, use this vigorous treatment with your dependable Vicks VapoRub. Massage it briskly on the back (between and below the shoulder-blades) as well as on the throat and chest, for 3 full minutes. Then spread a thick layer over the chest and cover with a warm cloth. Long after you relax into restful sleep, VapoRub's famous poultice-vapor action continues for hours to loosen phlegm, ease coughing, and help break up local congestion.

Sickness From Colds Cut in Half!

These two easy steps are the basis of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Vicks Plan is a simple, practical plan which any mother can easily follow in her own home. It is also a tested plan. In the most extensive colds-clinic of its kind ever conducted—among 17,353 subjects—Vicks Plan resulted in fewer colds and shorter colds—cut down sickness from colds more than half!

First Lady's Mail Devoted to Court

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(UP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's mail has been loaded with comments from persons wanting to air their views on her husband's proposals for judiciary reorganization, she said today at her press conference.

To date, the mail, which has averaged 200 letters a day on all subjects, has been about equally divided as to support or opposition of the plan to appoint an extra federal judge for those who do not resign within six months after their 70th birthday.

merit, for some 27,000 hourly-rate employees.

75-Cent Minimum.
The Murray Corporation of America announced it would increase hourly wage minimums tomorrow to 75 cents for men and 65 cents for women, and grant a five-cent increase to all workers now earning these minimums or more. The action affects about 10,000 employees.

General Motors counted some 75,000 employees back at work in its automotive plants after varying periods of idleness because of strikes and parts shortages, and pushed toward its goal of restoring full capacity operations next week. By March the corporation expects to produce 225,000 cars and trucks a month.

General Motors announced increases for its wage earners last week, as did Chrysler Corporation and the Packard Motor Car Company.

The union demands to be considered by tomorrow's conferees as agreed upon in the strike settlement, were listed by Homer Martin, U. A. W. A. president, on January 4 as:

City of Atlanta Employees Go In For Fingerprinting

Atlanta's paymaster William A. (Red) Florence and his three assistants yesterday became the first city employees, other than policemen, to have their fingerprints made for the permanent civilian file of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington. Anderson Workers

RETURN TO AUTO PLANTS

ANDERSON, Ind., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Hiding their feud, which flared into violence Saturday and brought military rule to Anderson, union and non-union automotive craftsmen marched peacefully today to their jobs at the Guide Lamp and Delco-Remy divisions of General Motors.

With tension easing, Colonel Albert H. Whitcomb granted permission to the United Automobile Workers of America to hold two meetings, their first under the military rule, and to distribute their publications.

National guardsmen, bayonets fixed, patrolled the streets around the two plants as about 2,400 employees resumed work in the Guide Lamp factory, scene of a recent "sit-down" strike, and about 7,000 workers returned to jobs in the Delco-Remy plant.

1 KILLED, 2 MISSING IN TRAIN-AUTO CRASH

BALTIMORE, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A Baltimore and Ohio railroad engineer was killed and two other men were missing after a collision of a local passenger train and a large truck late today on a grade crossing at Dorsey, between here and Washington, D. C.

The B. & O. office here identified the dead engineer as Elmer C. Pope of Baltimore, and said the two missing men were believed buried under the overturned engine.

They were the driver and helper of the truck for a Baltimore transfer company. The driver's name was listed as Sol Ely but the identity of the other man was not learned immediately.

The railroad company said none of the passengers of the four coaches was hurt. The fireman suffered minor injuries.

The four coaches left the rails but three remained standing. The roadbed was torn up for several hundred feet.

Threaten Further Tieup.

Threat that could result in a tieup to donate any more relief money to the department of welfare in its present setup was voiced by a number of councilmen and aldermen yesterday after the $25,000 was released. The city has only $25,000 more in its budget for relief, and further appropriations for this purpose depend upon the revenue-raising legislative program's success in the general assembly, it was said.

The crisis of relief was staved off temporarily by the release yesterday but will certainly become an issue next month, councilmen asserted.

Carpenter, Bailey and Callaway declared "There are conditions at the department which must be cleared up before we will consent to donate any more money to it." Bridges also is opposed to the setup.

In a five-hour session yesterday, general council considered a varied number of subjects, with councilmen indulging in long debates on virtually every one.

The aldermanic board failed to concur in council's approval of granting a 60-day option to Marion Smith and Harold Hirsch for purchase of the old city hall site for $340,000. Aldermen Carpenter, Callaway and Bridges voted against concurring in council's action and the paper failed. All other council actions were concurred in by the board.

Among actions taken by council were: Referred to the ordinance committee the proposal to annex property on the north side to Peachtree creek; referred to the same committee a proposal to pay members of the board of education the same salary as councilmen receive; referred to the same committee Councilman Frank Beck's proposal to authorize Grady hospital to charge fees from those persons admitted as emergency cases who are able to pay; recommended that the state purchase the old John B. Gordon home as a memorial to be used as a branch of the Carnegie library, and received a report that cost of extending Juniper street from Twelfth to Fifteenth street would approximate $95,000 for the property alone.

An ordinance prohibiting left turns in the middle of any block in the city was repealed, upon the recommendation of the police committee, but council also reversed the committee's recommendation that left turns be prohibited in the downtown or inner city limits area. Thus, left turns in all sections of the city were approved. Hartsfield has announced he will veto this.

A resolution to record council as opposing the raising of taxes, water rates, business licenses or sanitary fees was introduced by Alderman Bridges and was referred to the ordinance committee. This paper opposed the entire legislative program which Hartsfield and the municipal legislative committee has drawn for final action tomorrow morning before submitting it to the Fulton and DeKalb delegations. Bridges expected only increases of taxes on intoxicating drinks.

General council went on record as opposing the firemen's civil service bill, which seeks to divorce the personnel of the fire department from the authority of the mayor, council and the fire chief. Councilman John T. Marler, chairman of the board of firemasters, who has drafted a special meeting for tomorrow night to investigate the sponsors of the bill, yesterday assembled the fire board during a council recess and Mills Everett, Millikan, who opposes the bill, read it to the board members. A public hearing on the bill is scheduled for Thursday, Millikan said. It is now before the municipal government committee of the state senate.

In retaliation to Councilman Frank Beck's proposal recently that the legislature abolish the board of aldermen as a part of the city government, the aldermanic board yesterday introduced a resolution petitioning the general assembly to reduce the size of council from 12 to 11 members and allow the aldermen to designate the "one councilman" to be ousted. The paper passed without a dissenting vote, as Beck smiled.

Non-Parking Order Refused.

Councilman J. Allen Couch led an attack on council granting non-parking spaces at the request of merchants and businessmen. Nearly a dozen resolutions to authorize non-parking areas for various businesses, which were approved by the police committee upon the recommendation of Captain Jack Malcom, were adversely by council. Said Couch: "You cannot regulate traffic for the benefit of a few. This problem is citywide and it must be solved from that viewpoint."

Council referred to the ordinance committee the resolution recommended by the parks committee to authorize George I. Simons, park manager, to proceed in contracting for the city and county purchase of the John A. White park. To this committee went also a proposal by Carpenter seeking to prevent the police committee from revoking the license of any beer or wine dealer without a hearing.

The police committee was authorized to investigate the possibility of installation of parking meters in Atlanta and to report back to council. Council's edict preventing any city

'PRINTS' ARE TAKEN OF CITY EMPLOYEES

Paymaster and His Aides Join in Securing Identification Protection.

Joining the campaign for civilian fingerprinting sponsored by The Constitution and the Atlanta police department, City Paymaster William A. (Red) Florence and three assistants yesterday visited headquarters to have their fingerprint records made by Captain Ben W. Seabrook, commanding the police identification bureau.

They were the first city employees, other than approximately 450 policemen who have been fingerprinted on order of Chief M. A. Hornsby, to have their "prints taken for the FBI's nation-wide file in Washington. About 350 Constitution workers already have had similar records made for the same civilian file, thereby becoming the first major organization in the city to take such a step.

Rhodes-Haverty building employees and employees of Commercial High school also have taken advantage of the police department's free protective fingerprinting service and numerous other groups are indicating their desire to do likewise, according to Captain Seabrook.

"The various catastrophes that have struck this country during recent years," the captain said yesterday, "have caused the public to be keenly aware of the value of fingerprints for identification and other purposes."

LABOR LEADERS BACK U. S. COURT CHANGE

Georgia senators and congressmen will be urged to support President Roosevelt's supreme court revision plan by the Carpenters' Union, No. 225, Secretary T. D. Harper announced last night.

Harper said union men endorsed the President's intention to revise the supreme court and that they will request the state's congressional representatives to follow the President's lead. The carpenters voted the endorsement because they believe the move would expedite clearance of cases in the highest court, Harper said.

Both J. Sid Tiller and George Simmons, members, had resigned, effective yesterday. Tiller was chairman. It was said the welfare board will wait until successors to the two are named before selecting another chairman. Hugh C. Couch, board member, has announced his intention of resigning from the office of treasurer also. W. E. Mitchell, T. Barton Baird and Hartsfield are other members of the board.

Carpenter's resolution seeking to force discharge of Miller expressed appreciation to the welfare board members for their services and he said he "thought all the members were fine men."

"I want to release the relief money but there are conditions which must be changed at the department of welfare," Carpenter declared. "I have been down there and I know what is going on. Some of you councilmen do not and some of the welfare board members do not. Workers in Miller's office told me they were afraid to open their mouths in criticism for fear of being fired." He showed photographs of a succession of men who said Miller is having built, and others of scenes at 160 Pryor street. These were of relief applicants, workers and office equipment.

"This is a revelation to me," said Couch. He asserted if the drastic action of discharging Miller were necessary to "clean up" the department, he favored it.

GEORGIA TEXTILE MEN SEEK RETURN BY U. S. OF $40,000,000 TAXES

Supreme Court Decision To Review Anniston Case Basis of Hope.

Georgia textile operators yesterday saw a possibility of obtaining from the federal government between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 paid in several years ago in processing taxes to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration following a decision of the supreme court of the United States to review a case filed by the Anniston Manufacturing Company, of Anniston, Alabama.

The Anniston company, a leading Alabama textile organization, contends that the act of 1933 limiting refunds on processing taxes to those operators who did not pass the tax on to those who bought their goods is unconstitutional.

The supreme court review was granted yesterday after several efforts on the part of mill operators to obtain a review.

Sutherland, Tuttle & Brennan, Atlanta lawyers, representing the Anniston Manufacturing Company, said the facts in the case govern the situation of Georgia mill operators. It is estimated that between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 in Georgia money is involved in the case.

Special Law Passed.

After the supreme court a year ago held that the AAA and its processing taxes were unconstitutional, congress enacted a special law restricting the refunds under the act making it necessary for the taxpayers to show that they themselves had absorbed the tax. Several suits were filed directly against the United States government but the supreme court refused to review these.

The present case was filed against Harwell G. Davis, federal collector of internal revenue for Alabama as an individual.

Federal Judge David I. Davis, of Birmingham, before whom the case was first tried, ruled for Collector Davis and upheld the constitutionality of the refund act. The Anniston company appealed and the circuit court of appeals declined to set aside the decision. The Atlanta firm then asked for the review by the supreme court.

Congressional Rule Opposed.

The Anniston Company contended congress does not have the right to place any restrictions on the refund of taxes collected under unconstitutional laws.

The Anniston case will be argued before the supreme court on March 8, only three weeks from yesterday. Two other cases on which the high court yesterday granted a review were set for argument on March 1, a week from next Monday.

Sutherland, incidentally, is a former New Deal lawyer. Early in the first Roosevelt administration he was named a TVA counsel, a post from which he resigned after several months. He is a former pupil of Dr. Felix Frankfurter, Harvard Law school dean, who is the oldest veteran in point of service in the Roosevelt brain trust.

HIGH COURT TO RULE ON "AAA RESTRICTION"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (AP)—The supreme court agreed today to pass on a test case to determine the constitutionality of legislation restricting government refunds of the old AAA's processing and floor stock taxes.

At issue is a provision of the 1936 revenue act. It declares that processors seeking refunds must prove they bore the expense themselves and did not pass it on to consumers. Collections of the taxes totaled more than $1,000,000,000 before the AAA was invalidated.

Must Be Returned.

In a decision on January 13, 1936, the supreme court ruled that $200,000,000 of this amount, which had been impounded in federal courts, must be returned to the taxpayers. It declined to pass at that time on the legality of the proof required for recovery if the taxes actually had been paid into the federal treasury.

The case the high tribunal consented to review was brought by the Anniston, Ala., Manufacturing Company in an effort to recover $270,000 of processing and floor stock taxes. It lost in the fifth circuit court of appeals.

In the one opinion, delivered today by Justice Brandeis, the court held that the government could collect income taxes on $5,456 which it contended the Midland Mutual Life Insurance Company of Columbus, Ohio, received as interest when it foreclosed on certain property in 1930. Justice McReynolds dissented.

Declined Review.

The justices refused to review cases brought by five Texas rice millers and by the Sheridan, Wyo., Flouring Mills questioning constitutionality of a "windfall tax" imposed by congress in 1936. This levy was imposed on certain processors who escaped paying the AAA taxes.

CITY MAPS DEFENSE OF BEER 'CURFEW LAW'

Demurrer to Dealer's Plea for Injunction Filed in Superior Court.

Contending no property right is involved in the council's regulation of malt beverage sales in Atlanta and that the city can revoke beer or wine permits at any time, city attorneys yesterday filed a demurrer in Fulton superior court to the petition of Ed Lindsey, West End beer dealer, which seeks to enjoin the city from enforcing the beer "curfew law."

The demurrer asks the suit be thrown out of court on these grounds. It was filed by City Attorney Bond Almand and Jack Savage, and will be heard tomorrow before Judge John D. Humphries.

Lindsey's petition claims the "curfew law" is unconstitutional in that it interferes with rights granted under the Georgia constitution, by depriving Atlanta dealers of privileges granted others.

A case testing the strength of the county order which prohibits sale of beer on Sunday, and daily after midnight, in Fulton county, will be heard in Fulton superior court Friday before Judge Humphries.

Paul Wilson, justice of the peace of the Blackhall district, who sells beer in an establishment on Lakewood avenue, near Lakewood park, filed the suit testing the county law. Chief George Mathieson, of the county police, is named as defendant.

Fulton county police reported yesterday that county beer dealers abided by the law over the week end and did not sell beer or wine during the restricted hours.

Across the county line they reported, business was booming, however.

Captain John Olive and Lieutenant W. A. Wells reported after an inspection of the county beer parlors that no dealers were violating the county commissioner's new rule.

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

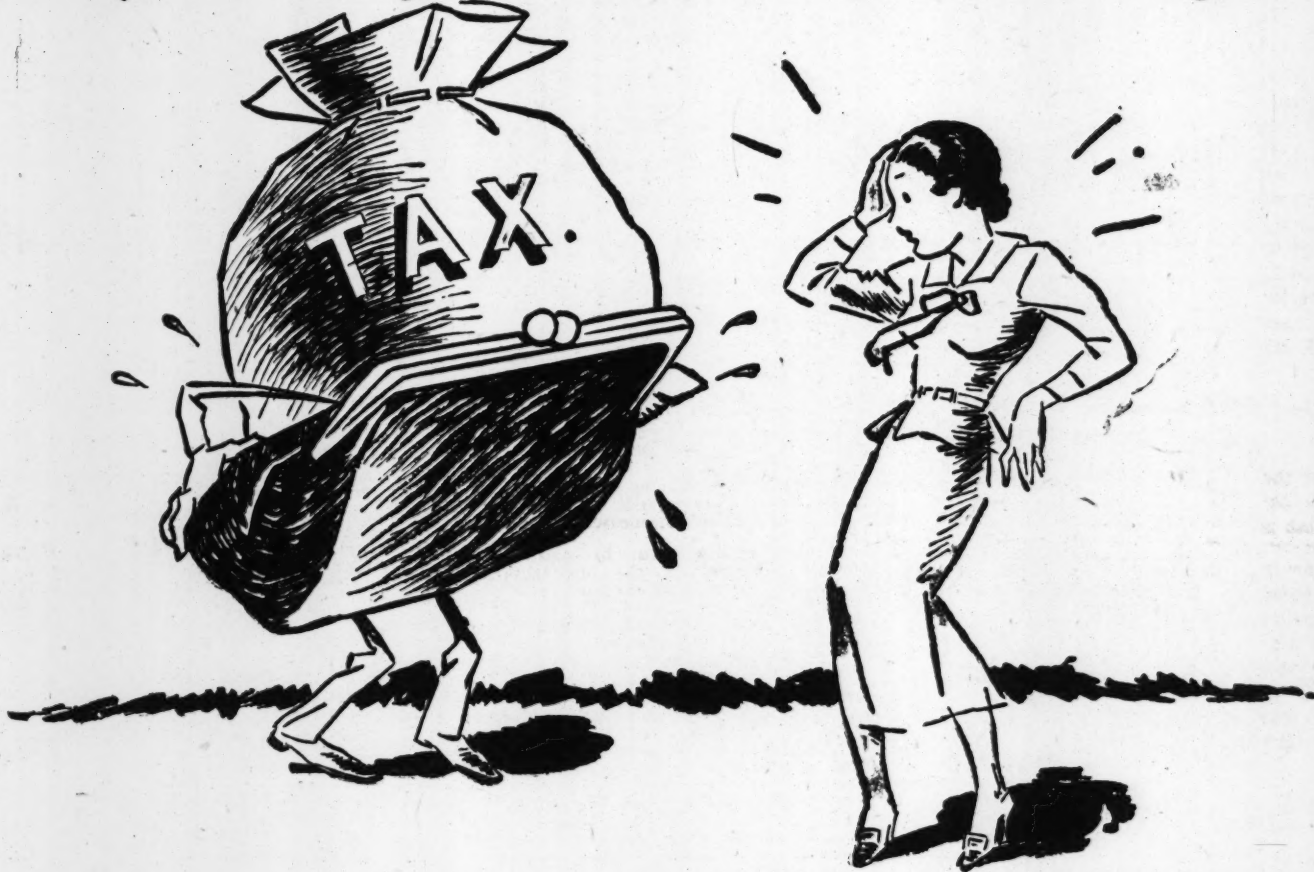

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins. Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. —(adv.)

The Chain Store Tax Will Not Bring the State This Much in TAXES—But Will COST the Consumers that Amount!

The unfair, discriminatory CHAIN STORE TAX BILL, now pending in the Georgia Legislature, will seriously affect your pocketbook. If it passes, it may add $3,500,000.00 to the price Georgia housewives will have to pay for food alone, each year!

The selfish agitators behind this bill know that the chain stores already sell at such SAVINGS, that they will be forced to add this tax to their retail price. . . . And—the competing merchant, not so taxed, can increase his profits the equivalent of this tax on chain stores.

Already the average chain grocery store in Georgia pays 2.3 times as much taxes as the average large competing grocer, and 9 times as much as 90 per cent of the other grocers in the State. . . .

Do you think it fair that an additional tax burden be put on the chain stores?

The primary purpose of this Chain Store Tax is to KILL the chain stores—not to raise revenue for the State. . . . In a recent bulletin of the organization behind this Chain Store Tax, the following statement occurs:

"Surely a tax burden of this kind will go far toward curtailing the spread of chain stores in Georgia. It has been said by some that the tax would probably eliminate some chains already in existence."

Unless you wish to be forced to pay MORE for groceries, drugs and other commodities, and be deprived of the SAVINGS and CONVENIENCE that chain stores offer you, write today to your State Senator and Representatives, telling them that you are OPPOSED to the Chain Store Tax. . . . ACT QUICKLY!

CHAIN STORE TAX HITS HOUSEWIFE'S POCKETBOOK!

So, on the whole, the number of people adversely affected by such a tax would constitute a very substantial percentage in comparison with the number . . . adversely affected by present conditions."

INSTALLMENT XXVI.

She arrived to find her own telephone ringing like mad. As she expected, the voice over the wire was Bream's. A startled exclamation greeted her first words, and following it came a volley of questions.

"So you think it was a booby trap set for the other girl and you walked into it?"

"I'm bound to think it," answered Diana bitterly. "I think, too, that seeing me instead of Miss Ackland took the wind out of her sails."

"Tell me exactly what happened. Don't miss out anything."

Diana did so.

"And I can tell you this," she finished, "that woman's most frightened that she was before. Her whole manner showed it. Doesn't that look as though I've been right about her all along?"

"She's guilty, Mr. Bream!"

There was a noncommittal grunt and a short silence.

"I'll hike along up there now, just in case your Yard friend steals a march on me. I must get at that landlady."

Early Diana was awakened by sounds outside. Springing to the window she saw the big car, with Gaylord driving and Blundell getting into it with a look of agitated purpose. Even as she speculated on the meaning of this the telephone rang, and snatching off the receiver she heard a strange male voice.

"Is that Miss Diana Lake?" it asked gruffly. "Living at 10 Queen's close, Kensington?"

"Right!" she answered, speaking from King's Cross station. There's a parcel waiting for you at the luggage office. It will be delivered to you in person if you come along with proper means of identification. The claim ticket's left with the station master. If you've got such a thing as a passport, better bring it with you."

What could it mean? With trembling haste Diana got into her clothes, and not stopping for breakfast took a taxi to King's Cross. She found the station master, who, satisfied that she was indeed Miss Lake, handed over a slip of paper. Three minutes later she was holding a heavy, flat paper parcel tied with string and sealed with big blobs of red wax. On it was her name and address typed, and also typed, at the lower corner, were the underlined words: "PRIVATE. OPEN WHEN ALONE."

Instinctively, with a wild fluttering of her pulse, she knew that only Elsie could have sent her this parcel. She began to see reason in the busy cluck of keys which followed her into the night and afterwards filled her restless dreams. The ladies' cloakroom offered solution. Into it she hurried and, laying her burden on the window sill, broke open the seals. Inside the wrappings was a cardboard box, on top of which lay a letter, signed, and without signature, "Elise."

I had to get rid of you. To the other girl I might have spoken, but not to you. In the first place, you would not have believed me; in the second...

Here several words were heavily linked out.

Be that as it may, see what you can make of the inclosed, which is all I have to go on, so help me God, and whether I'm right or wrong, it's worthless in my hands. I'm out of it. I'm going now where neither you nor the police can find me to drag me back. One thing more. If you'll be guided by me, you won't be hurt. You'll show this only to the lawyers and detectives who are dealing with the case.

Without the least notion of what to expect, Diana ripped off the list of the box, stared down, and grew limp with disappointment. Old newspapers! Nothing more. One after another she turned them over. Copies of the Evening Banner and others, mostly popular sheets, with dates running back for perhaps eight weeks. A cursor's glance showed her not one marked passage. Once again she saw herself cheated.

Let why had the sender taken such elaborate pains? Surely Elsie must be in earnest if she stayed her second flight long enough to perform this task? In earnest—or else mad. Bumping up the corridor, Diana went straight to the Temple. Michael Hull had not arrived, and when after 20 minutes he did appear she was too grieved in her own thoughts to notice he was disturbed in his manner. In his private office she poured out her story.

And these newspapers are all she's given me. While I've waited for you I've studied them line by line, and if there's anything in them, I've not found it. What do you make of it?"

Now the old expression in Hull's eyes struck her.

"I'm sorry you had to wait," was the low response. "I was detained by another item of news. Apparently you don't know yet that during the night 17 Floyd's square was broken into by the police. Elsie Blundell was found in her bedroom, which was sealed up and filled with gas. She was stone dead—by her own hand."

"Suicide?"

"I don't—that is, I can't believe it."

Diana's throat was parched.

"She was alone in the house," said Hull. "It was certainly suicide."

"What else was in the paper?"

"Any note, any—"

She could not utter the word confession, but her companion understood.

"Nothing. What you have there is all the light we seem likely to have on the event."

Diana smoothed the letter she had crumpled in her hand. She was thinking of once before in this same room she had seen a door slam in her face, as surely as the real door had done last night. Now again it would be no reopening it. She pointed to the two sentences: "I'm out of it. I'm going now where neither you nor the police can find me to haul me back."

"Then that was what she meant?" she asked dryly.

Hull read the whole letter through, made cautious sounds. Before he had finished, power to reason flowed back into Diana's numbed brain.

"It's queer," she really had the intention of killing herself, why not hand me these papers instead of getting me off the premises and writing me a letter?"

She broke off, turning toward the door, which had suddenly been opened by a clerk. It seemed that Mr. Bream was in the outer office. Hull nodded and said: "Show him in."

The little agent, paler than usual, looked subdued and thoughtful. Diana met him with a swift "Was it suicide? Are you sure?" but his reply was roundabout. Beginning with his own arrival at Floyd's square, he described how he had found Inspector Headcorn and a sergeant already there, pounding at the door.

"We began to think the place was empty. Then we smelled gas. We borrowed a ladder and got inside the front bedroom, though the gas was enough to knock you over. Full on—she was lying in a brown cloth coat, close up against the gas-fire, her head in a sort of cowl made of wrapping paper. She'd been dead a good half-hour—maybe longer."

Bream paused, glanced at Diana, and continued: "We got Mr. Blundell up to make a formal identification. He declares he hardly knew her, what with her hair, short and dyed black, and her general starved appearance. It seemed a decided shock to him. He found in her purse two of his keys on a ring."

The barrister gestured toward the pile of newspapers on his desk.

"I'd better tell you what took the victim out last night," he said, and gave a brief resume of Diana's latest experience.

"What?" exploded Bream, his pale eyes blazing. "Here, let me look!"

He pounced upon the papers, thumbing them over. "Elm!" he muttered disappointedly. "Seems the same lot I saw in her room the one

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

She has told that one before.

If you like to discourse on your childhood, or your year in Vienna, you should always state your stories guardedly. Nine to one, you're told them before.

A nice way to handle it, is to work up a technique of suspense by starting out with the positive statement, "I've told you about the way my grandfather used to chop wood." Then you chuckle reminiscently. The other person, if he remembers about your grandfather chopping wood, will then chuckle with you, and there's been no harm done. But if the other person doesn't remember the story, he will say so, and you can start in on it, working it up slowly at first so that as soon as you get a flicker of recognition on his face you can stop with the remark—"and you remember the rest."

This suspense method is much better than coming out point blank with the question, "Did I ever tell you about grandpa and the saw?" It's hard for another person to say yes to that. He hates to curb you, and so he turns polite and says no. He shouldn't, of course, but he does.

The only other thing to do, when you find yourself repeating your stories, is to keep still. But we'd hate to ask anyone to do that for very long. They'd probably break under the strain.

WEAPONS OF WAR.

VII.—Modern Cannon.

A modern cannon with a barrel six inches wide can send a 100-pound shell through a foot of solid iron. That may seem like a great deal of force, and it is, but the spic-n-span cannon is hardly more than a plaything when compared with some other guns used by present-day armies.

Jacket of 16-inch gun being lifted from roiling pit.

A gun with 16-inch bore can hurl a shell weighing one ton at a speed of 23 miles a minute, and the shell can cut through three feet of solid iron, almost as if the iron were cardboard.

A 12-inch gun sends out a shell with even greater speed. The shell weighs about 850 pounds and travels half a mile in one second. The weight of the cannon itself is about 67 tons. A light field cannon will shoot a distance of 10 or 12 miles. During the World War, the Germans used guns of mighty size known as "Big Berthas," firing them against forts and cities. These guns carried to a distance of 35 or 40 miles.

Most of the cannon-shooting during the World War was from the smaller cannon, and the average cost of the shells was only about $50 apiece. Since more than 150,000,000 shells were fired, the total cost was very great—more than $7,500,000,000.

If you could manage the spending of seven and a half billion dollars, what would you do with the money? Such a sum could do wonderful things in the fight against disease. It could pay for the college education of a vast number of young men and women. It could save the homes of millions of people from the danger of floods. Yet it was only a part of the cost of the World War.

In firing at airplanes, the gunner is not supposed to aim where he sees the plane. He should aim ahead of it, or in the direction he believes it is going. If the airplane is at a certain height, he may figure the bullet will take a second to reach its mark, and must guess how far the plane will travel in that time. Reports of warfare in Spain have not shown a very large number of aviators brought down by anti-aircraft guns.

In early days armies used brass-barreled cannon which glinted brightly in the sun, or painted iron cannon red or blue. Nowadays the custom is to paint big guns so they will look as nearly as possible like the landscape where they are placed for their deadly work. This helps to hide them from enemy airplanes which might drop bombs on them.

Southern Style!

Raw material for fried chicken, southern style. Should be a plump, young fowl, weighing from 1 3/4 to 2 pounds when dressed. Should be kept in the refrigerator, for cooling, over night.

Miss Alice Davis, debutante daughter of Mrs. Henry W. Davis, of 844 Clifton road, adheres to the good, old-fashioned way of dipping the disjointed chicken in flour, properly seasoned with salt and pepper.

Then the chicken is carefully placed in a hot frying pan, with sufficient lard to prevent burning. Turn over once, and cook, slowly, until the meat of the drumsticks is ready to fall away from the bone, and then the chicken is ready to be served.

Serve hot, with that rich, golden brown color that denotes, to the epicure, that he is feasting upon a culinary gift from the gods—Fried Chicken, Southern Style!

U. S. SEEKS TO CONTROL FOREIGN FUNDS INFUX

Officials Consider Possibility of Special Levy To Retard Import of Capital.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Government monetary officials considered the possibility today of levying a tax to retard a swift, sustained inflow of foreign capital.

Acting under instructions from President Roosevelt, Secretary Morgenthau, Marriner, S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board, and Chairman James M. Landis, of the Securities Commission, devoted a two-hour session to a study of possible methods of slowing the inflow.

No decision was reached, informed officials emphasized, but they said the possibility of taxing foreign investments in this country was a major topic of discussion.

Imports of "alien funds" are measured largely by gold inflows, which have totaled more than $1,000,000,000 in the last three years and about $100,000,000 since January 1.

These funds have been regarded as a threat to domestic economy because they might be withdrawn suddenly, pulling profits from the domestic price structure and restricting credit. They also upset international monetary relationships and have adverse economic effects on nations losing them.

At his press conference late today, Morgenthau predicted that a decision as to steps to be taken would be reached in the next few days.

Girl Is Run Down, Injured by Plane

A narrow escape from death when she was run down by an airplane was being told yesterday by Alice Mae Dorman, 12-year-old daughter of Parker Dorman, of Fayetteville, from her bed at Georgia Baptist hospital, where she is being treated for a broken arm and severe bruises.

Alice was struck Sunday by a wing tip of the plane piloted by E. E. Wood, of Griffin.

Wood was speeding down the Fayetteville runway when the girl ran across the open stretch. She was confused by shouts of warning from spectators and stopped directly in the plane's path.

Although he had not attained normal flying speed, Wood pulled the plane up but the lower left wing struck her on the shoulder, knocking her to the ground unconscious.

COLLINS BIRD RITES SET THIS MORNING

Members of Governor's Staff Will Serve as Escort for Hotel Man.

Funeral services for Collins Bird, Swainsboro hotel operator and former Atlanta hotel executive, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the Inman Park Baptist church, with Dr. S. F. Love and the Rev. W. Lee Cuts officiating. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery under the direction of H. M. Patterson & Son.

Members of Governor Rivers' official staff, of which Mr. Bird was a member, will act as honorary escort and have been asked by W. P. Scott, chief of staff, to meet at 9 o'clock this morning in uniform at the Ansley hotel.

Mr. Bird was killed late Saturday in an auto-truck crash near Elmhurst, S. C. He was on a business trip at the time with George LeBlanc, his chief cook at the John C. Coleman hotel, which Mr. Bird had opened in Swainsboro only six months ago. Mr. LeBlanc suffered a fractured arm and other injuries in the crash.

The hotel executive was widely known throughout the south and had held offices in state and national hotel men's organizations.

7 STEPS TO RECOVERY URGED BY ECONOMIST

Balancing of Budget Heads List Prepared by Brookings Institution.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Dr. Harold Glenn Moulton, economist, advanced tonight a seven-point program, headed by a balanced federal budget, as the "essential requirements" for further national recovery.

As president of the Brookings Institution of Washington, an organization for scientific research in economics and governmental problems, Dr. Moulton said his conclusions were based upon an exhaustive survey which that organization began in 1932.

The report was delivered before more than 300 business, civic and industrial leaders at a dinner.

The Seven Points:

1. Re-establishment of a balanced federal budget as a foundation on which to build enduring progress.

2. Continuance of the present policy of maintaining a fixed price of gold and the establishment through international cooperation of a system of stable foreign exchanges.

3. Extension of the program of reciprocal trade agreements as the most practical means of reducing artificial barriers to commerce and reopening the channels of international trade.

4. Wage-Price Ratio.

5. The preservation of the generally favorable ratio of prices and wages in the interest of progressive expanding the real purchasing power of workers.

6. Placing emphasis on carrying out of technological progress to all groups.

7. The maintenance, in general, of prevailing hours of labor.

"The elimination of industrial practices and policies, private and public, which tend to restrict output or to prevent the increase of productive efficiency."

Shifting the emphasis in agricultural policy from restricted output and rising prices to the abundant furnishing of supplies of raw materials and foodstuffs.

U. S. Accused of Making Reds Out of Redmen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The Senate Indian affairs committee heard today a revived charge by the American Indian Federation that the Federal Indian Bureau is encouraging Communism among the government's tribal wards.

The accusation, first lodged in 1935 and remaining dormant in the committee, was renewed by Mrs. Alice Lee Jenison, executive secretary of the federation.

The federation, representing 3,500 Indian leaders considered Indian Commissioner John Collier "personally responsible" for what the federation believed was a "Communist program" launched throughout the Indian country.

Thomas was asked to name a subcommittee to investigate the federation's accusations. Mrs. Jenison did not produce evidence against Collier at the hearing today.

Fried Chicken a la Southland!—How Does Dixie Cook Famed Dish?

To Dip in Flour, Batter or Buttermilk—That's Only One of Many Points on Which Distinguished Chefs and Ladies Fail to Reach Agreement.

By RALPH T. JONES.

Fried chicken—southern style! Hot, tender, golden brown. Flavor some, delectable.

But, just how do you prepare and cook it? That, ladies and gentlemen, is the question.

Mrs. Rivers, wife of Georgia's Governor, you remember, started the controversy that now rages in every kitchen and parlor of the south. Mrs. Rivers said she dipped her chicken in buttermilk before frying. Wives of other southern governors called their culinary frowns into play and turned thumbs down on buttermilk.

Each gave her own pet recipe for fried chicken, southern style, and it was discovered by a startled constituency that there are scores of divergencies in the art of cooking the famous dish.

For instance: Do you use flour or batter or buttermilk in which to coat your pieces of chicken? Salt or pepper, or both, for seasoning? Like a frying pan or deep kettle is your cooking utensil? What weight chicken do you prefer? Should it be freshly killed or cooked for one hour, 24 hours or a week?

Should it be cooked in refrigerator or in cold, salt water? Do you prefer lard, side bacon grease, butter or chicken fat in which to fry your chicken?

Do you like your pan real hot, or do you think cooking at moderate temperature is better?

Thousand Questions Plus.

These, and a thousand other questions enter into the important controversy, all started when Mrs. Rivers said she liked to dip her chicken in buttermilk.

Preponderance of opinion from professional fryers of chicken in Atlanta favors the roll-in-flour method. Few had heard of the buttermilk plan and even those who had heard of it, perceiving it as a poor idea.

The consensus was that, if Mrs. Rivers dips her chicken in buttermilk, it don't hanker for a dinner invitation to the mansion on fried chicken night. If that be less majestic, make the most of it!

Fried in butter? Decidedly not, say the chefs at the Atlanta Athletic Club, the Capital City Club, the Piedmont Driving Club, the Standard Club and similar places.

Returned coming in, too, from other Georgia cities. It is probable, you'll concede, that they probably know more about fried chicken, southern style, in the smaller and older places than do in Atlanta.

Telegrams Pour In.

Halt a dozen of the best known women of Milledgeville, erstwhile capital of the state, wire their comments, for instance.

"The flour-dip method is the real southern way of preparing chicken," says Mrs. Nellie Womack Hines, author and clubwoman. "It has been cooked that way in my family for generations."

The flour-dip plan also gets the votes, from Milledgeville, of Mrs. J. H. Ennis, wife of Senator Ennis; of Mrs. Guy Wells, wife of the president of the Georgia State College for Women; of Mrs. Joe Jenkins, wife of the president of the Georgia Military College; and of Mrs. Richard Binion, head of the Baldwin Memorial hospital. Mrs. Jenkins, incidentally, uses the shaking sack method of putting the flour on the chicken.

"Roll your chicken in flour, with a little salt and pepper to taste," said the chef at the Piedmont Driving Club. "Cook in a frying pan, at a moderate temperature. Use lard for your grease. Cook slowly until brown, then cover pan and let steam. When chicken is properly cooked the bone of the drumstick should separate from the meat of its own accord."

Yankee Propaganda Cited.

This expert said a few people liked their chicken cooked in batter, but mightily few, and these were mostly northerners who hadn't had time to

Ennis, likes plain flour dip method. Mrs. Guy Wells, wife of the president of G. S. C. W., also likes plain flour method and serves chicken this way to her guests at old governor's mansion. Mrs. Joe Jenkins, wife of Georgia Military College president, puts chicken and flour in sack, shakes together and cooks chicken covered in hot grease. Mrs. Richard Binion, wife of Dr. Richard Binion, of the Governor's staff, who heads the Baldwin Memorial hospital here, also likes the flour method. Mrs. Nellie Womack Hines, author and clubwoman, says: "The flour dip method is the real southern way of preparing chicken. It has been cooked that way in my family for generations."

DALTON HOUSEWIVES GIVE THEIR RECIPES

DALTON, Ga., Feb. 15.—Dalton housewives give the following fried chicken recipes:

Mrs. Clark Jones—Keep chicken in the refrigerator two to five days, wash thoroughly, sprinkle salt; joint, wash heavily, drop into hot shortening, fry covered five minutes, turn pieces, fry five minutes more, reduce heat, cook until done.

Mrs. M. E. Judd—Maryland fried chicken recipe handed down to her mother by negro mammy: Dress chicken, keep in refrigerator two days, joint, put in skillet, season with salt, pepper. Dust with flour. Put in pan enough vegetable oil or butter to cover. Cook with skin side up to keep meat juices intact. When done, add a little water. Allow fowl to simmer on back of the stove. Cooking time is about two hours. Serve on platter with gravy poured over chicken.

Mrs. C. D. McCutchen, mother of State Senator Kelly McCutchen: Use chicken weighing about two pounds. Disjoint, chill overnight. Dredge in flour seasoned with salt, pepper. Fry in deep fat until brown on both sides. Cover closely and reduce heat. Cook slowly 20 minutes more or until tender. Drain on absorbent paper.

Mrs. O. B. Hartin, wife of the Dalton mayor—Chill two or three days. Joint, dip in flour seasoned with salt and pepper. Fry in shortening to which butter is added about 30 minutes.

Mrs. George Rice—Fryer should not be over two pounds. Dress carefully, cut each piece at joints. Chill at least 24 hours. When ready to fry, add salt and pepper to flour, mix well. Roll chicken. Place in iron skillet with enough lard to cover. Cook until golden brown. If a thermometer is available be sure fat is 375 degrees Fahrenheit. Remove from fireplace on paper towels to absorb excess fat.

Mrs. Will Bowen—Prepare chicken at least 24 hours before frying. Wash, salt and pepper the pieces. Roll in flour. Fry in deep fat, using cast aluminum fryer. Always fry uncovered.

ered, with medium heat, and use shortening.

Dalton housewives disagree with Mrs. Rivers over buttermilk dipping.

HERE ARE RECIPES OF COLUMBUS COOKS

COLUMBUS, Ga., Feb. 15.—Mrs. Frank Lumpkin pins her faith to Liza Ann, who says the secret of fried chicken is to salt it, let it stand in cold water for an hour, then dip in flour, cook slowly in deep fat.

Reached via county telephone at historic Brickyard, Mrs. Bessie Bicker staff was just a little amazed to find that a newspaper, even a newspaper woman, was interested in fried chicken, but she knows the rules. Wash chicken in soda water, let it stand while, rinse thoroughly, salt well and allow to drain on unglazed paper. Next morning cut fowl, roll in seasoned flour, then fry slowly in spider.

Mrs. L. W. McPherson, hostess par excellence, gets her recipe from a country innkeeper near Tate, Ga., where at end of a long drive she was served such chicken as has been eaten in never before. In the kitchen she found that it was dipped in batter made of seasoned flour, baking powder and water, and fried in oil.

Mrs. Johnnie Mayher, very new bride, has her chicken fried in deep vegetable fat.

Mrs. Calvin DesPortes, bridge expert, says the secret is to fry in deep fat slowly and covered so the fowl will be crisp but not hard.

Mrs. Edward Swift Jr. says at her house chicken is cut up, washed thoroughly, put in pan with just enough water to keep moist, then, as all proper cooks seem to do, dipped in flour and fried in deep fat.

Mrs. C. E. Battle, whose word is law in matters culinary for Columbus, says dip in flour well seasoned and fry in covered skillet.

COMMERCIAL FAVORS BUTTERMILK IDEA

COMMERCIAL, Ga., Feb. 15.—For frying chicken, disjoint, place in refrigerator for several hours and when ready to fry, roll in flour to which salt and pepper has been added. Drop in deep, hot fat. Place cover on pan for a short while, remove top and let brown on one side. Turn only once. It can be cooked in 30 minutes.

This is the favorite method of Miss Louree Haley, home economics teacher, and Mrs. J. B. Hardman, wife of State Senator Hardman, and the majority of Commercial housewives.

The buttermilk method is well known and is used by many. The acidity of the buttermilk is said to have a tendency to make tender the fibers of chicken steak and other meats. Some cooks roll the chicken in meat that has been sifted two or three times rather than flour. A bachelor, Nathan Williamson, living near here, puts lard and flour chicken in a baking pan. At the same time he sets the pan in the oven and keeps it at high temperature, never turning until done. One 92-year-old cook, Mrs. L. H. Gober, has rolled chicken in sweet milk then in seasoned flour. Sweet milk gives meat a golden brown tint.

HERE IS CLAYTON RECIPE FOR BEST FRIED CHICKEN

CLAYTON, Ga., Feb. 15.—Mrs. Clarence Ferguson, one of Clayton's distinguished ladies, club, social and church worker, a lovely hostess and real southern cook, lays down her recipe for best fried chicken southern style:

Dress frier weight 1 1/2 to 2 pounds, put in refrigerator for at least 12 hours, take out, rinse, salt and pepper and roll in flour. Put in hot lard at least 350 degrees Fahrenheit. Don't crowd. Don't turn but once. When a golden brown, remove the pieces and allow to drain on unglazed paper. Serve hot.

SAVANNAH OPINION APPEARS DIVIDED

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Different methods of frying chicken all seem to have proponents in Savannah. Mayor Robert M. Hitch, considered one of Savannah's outstanding judges of good food, and who for several years during the illness of his late wife and since has prepared daily menus for his house, favors Mrs. Rivers' way of preparing fried chicken. This is the favorite method of cooking fryers at the mayor's house. Mayor Hitch has collected many famous receipts on his travels and his opinions on food and preparation are authoritative.

Mrs. Frank Skolt, wife of the former alderman and civic leader, favors rolling salted and peppered pieces of chicken in flour and frying in deep fat. The Skolt cook, Ronnie, has been preparing chicken for them 28 years that way.

Miss Alita Harper, who operates one of Savannah's most famous and exclusive eating places, also favors this method. Mrs. Harry Norton, well-known Savannahian, favors dipping chicken pieces in egg, rolling in flour, cooking light brown, then steaming in slow oven. She also advocates frying to light brown in oven, putting butter on each piece and cooking slowly in covered pan.

Mrs. Thomas R. Jones, wife of the executive secretary, Chamber of Commerce, says keep chicken in refrigerator 24 hours, then cut up, salt and roll in flour, and fry slowly in deep pure lard. Mrs. Jones says good gravy is necessary and suggests browned flour and sweet milk for making gravy from grease in which the chicken was fried.

John Moore, the cook at the place of Johnny Harris, where more than 500 chickens are fried each week, fries half a chicken at a time in deep fat after sprinkling with salt and rolling lightly with flour. He sprinkles with pepper after cooking.

Sixteen couples married 50 years or more, and 17 others married 40 years, were honored at a special service in the First Methodist church at Ottawa, Kas.

TREAT A COLD AS IF YOU MEAN IT!

Don't Fool Around with Half-way Measures and Invite Serious Complications!

One of the worst things you can do is "kick around" with a cold. The so-called "common cold" causes more serious sickness and more enforced absence from work than anything else. It's a mistake to treat a cold lightly. A cold calls for a cold treatment and not a "cure-all". A cold calls for internal treatment, for a cold is an internal infection. One of the best things you can take for a cold is Groves' Laxative Bromo Quinine. Your own doctor will tell you that. First of all, Bromo Quinine is a cold tablet, made expressly for the treatment of colds. Secondly it is internal medication and of fourfold effect. Here's what it does: First, it opens the bowels, an advisable step in treating a cold. Second, it checks the infection in the system.

The investigators are granted authority to give immunity to any witnesses they deem advisable. Speaker Harris asked approval of the measure while the house was sitting as a committee of the whole with Representative W. W. Mundy, of Polk county, presiding. The speaker, making one of the few appearances he has made, for or against any measure before his house, said he was asking approval of the $10,000 limit on the appropriation and also asking approval of the amendment furnishing state lawyers and state auditors for the committee. The $10,000 limitation amendment was sponsored by Representative George Sabados, of Dougherty county, while the other two amendments were presented by Speaker Pro Tem, John C. Parker, of Colquitt county. "Any idea of appropriating $250,000 for this inquiry is fantastic," Speaker Harris said. "It is not needed. It is extravagant and should not be approved."

Senator Lindsay, an administration supporter in the upper branch of the assembly, sat in the house during the discussion. The debate reached its hottest point during a luncheon recess in the senate and many members of that branch forewent their lunches to listen to the arguments. Representatives Randall Evans, of McDuffie county, and William K. Barrett, of Richmond county, the Talmadge leaders in the house, sought in vain to amend the bill, which they said they would vote for and later did approve, to provide for further investigations. One of their amendments would have called for an inquiry into Governor Rivers' conduct as speaker. Evans and Barrett did not get an additional vote on their proposal. The Richmond colon, speaking on the measure, took occasion to praise Talmadge's record in office. After failing to amend the bill Evans and Barrett as well as several other Talmadge followers voted against the bill on the ground that the inquiry might "pillory" Talmadge to such an extent that he may be able to stage a political comeback. The fight on this issue was led by Representative Lanham, of Floyd county; Booth, of Barrow; and Zellner, of Monroe. Lanham voted against the bill, as did Booth. Zellner voted for it. The vote was taken on the investigation during Governor Rivers' absence from the state. He was in Washington where last night he attended the dinner in honor of Postmaster General James A. Farley, but Floor Leader Sutton outlined the administration's views on the inquiry in the following statement he made to the house at the outset of the debate: "You have before you House Bill No. 121 which seeks to create a committee to investigate the activities of the former administration of this state. While this bill bears my signature, it is not my measure but one that is introduced on behalf of the people of Georgia. I thought it might embarrass my fellow house members to ask them to sign it with me for two reasons: First, because if you signed as one of the sponsors of the measure you would feel compelled to give it your support, and secondly, if you should happen to be named as a member of the committee it might cause you to be unjustly criticized as one of the authors of the bill. "There have been several serious charges already filed with you against the last administration. These reports have been properly held for consideration by such committee as might be appointed. "I call your attention to Paragraph three of the statement of principles outlined in the Democratic platform adopted at Macon, October 7, 1936. "We recommend to the incoming administration that it make an impartial but thorough investigation of all departments of the government during the incumbency of the present Governor. (Honorable Eugene Talmadge), and that it apply proper remedies to protect the state against all future illegal acts. "There have been many claims made at the present session of the general assembly that certain measures have the support or disapproval of Governor Rivers. As floor leader of the house I have made no such claim, nor do I intend to do so, for if I know

U. S. Receives $10 For War-Time Theft

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(UP)—An anonymous Canton, Ohio, woman with a guilty conscience sent the War Department $10 today. She said that during the war when she was poor and had a son to support she met a soldier who was on kitchen duty in a training camp. He kept her supplied with canned goods and other edibles—at government expense.

The sentiment of our distinguished Governor, it is that he is seeking to serve the people of Georgia and not his own interests. The bills that have been presented to you hearing administration approval are those which seek to carry out the wishes of the Democratic party of this state. The bill now presented is not his measure but one that has been dictated by your ballots.

"He has told you from every courtroom in Georgia and from this rostrum, that he is here to act as the servant of the people and not as their dictator. "You have heard various rumors as to the amount that will be needed to carry on this investigation. No more will be asked or spent than is absolutely necessary, and for that reason it will be left for you to name the amount necessary to finance the investigation. "I urge you not to cripple the power of the committee by amendments which would destroy the bill. "It may be that the state does not wish this investigation. If so it is your prerogative as representatives of the people to repeal the right to do so. I call to your attention the dark hints of scandal that have troubled Georgia for four years. There are some who openly fear that this investigation will again raise ex-Governor Talmadge to power if it finds him to have been free from fault. I feel sure that the members of the committee will be gentlemen of such known integrity that their report will speak the truth of the facts investigated. If they find the former administration has been corrupt, let them so state regardless of the high position of those involved. If they find no fault it will be their solemn duty to render a verdict of acquittal. I do not believe that you will care to again surrender your state government to those who seek mastery rather than leadership regardless of what the committee may find."

Representative William H. Key, of Jasper county, chairman of the house ways and means committee, said last night he would insist so far as possible, on writing into any repeal bill approved by the house a clause providing that Georgia products be used in the manufacture of liquor. "In California they insist that California products only be sold and we ought to do the same in Georgia," he said. It will help Georgia in more ways than one and I do not think we should leave anything undone which will help the people of our state."

Narrow Vote Margin. The general assembly two years ago adopted a bill repealing prohibition and submitting it to the people. The voters rejected the proposal by the narrow majority of 200 votes. At the same time beer and wine were legalized by the voters. Chairman Sabados said yesterday the public hearing Thursday would be for the purpose of hearing all persons who desire to discuss prohibition and repeal in all forms. "The committee has several bills regarding beer and wine," he said. "If anyone desires to speak concerning these we will be glad to hear from them."

Sabados said the fact that Hastings and Coleman do not desire to present witnesses at the hearing in behalf of repeal does not mean repealists will not be heard. "Anyone who thinks they have any information which may be of value to the committee will be given a respectful hearing," the chairman said. "Two years ago there were complaints of unfairness on the part of the chairman of the house temperance committee. There will be no cause for similar complaints this year."

Representative T. V. Williams, of Coffee county, chairman of the 1935 temperance committee, was defeated for re-election last fall. Representative Hastings submitted a local option plan calling for statutory repeal while Representative Coleman's bill called for a state monopoly system.

Revenue Prospects. Coleman estimated income from the state monopoly liquor plan would approximate $4,500,000 yearly. Hastings estimated the income from his plan at $2,400,000 on liquor "now being sold and consumed in Georgia," plus whatever income would come from the license features which he did not estimate.

Randall Evans, of McDuffie county, author of bills to repeal the beer and wine acts, said he would oppose repeal but did not know of any organized movement among drys in the house so far. Always a controversial subject in the legislature, the bills were expected to produce one of the major floor battles of the session.

Anti-repeal leaders outside the legislature have outlined a campaign of opposition under the leadership of the consolidated forces for prohibition. Their program calls for strict enforcement of statutes now prohibiting liquor, and for repeal of laws permitting sale of wine and beer.

Local Option Plan. The local option plan proposed by Hastings would limit licensing of liquor stores and dealers to those counties in which citizens vote at a referendum in favor of the system. Elections could be held within 15 days of the act's passage, on petition of 10 per cent of the registered voters. Sales would be limited to "package stores" where drinking on the premises would be prohibited, and to hotels, restaurants, clubs and dining cars, where mixed drinks could be served.

The present revenue commission would administer the act. In addition to state taxes on manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers, counties and incorporated municipalities could levy additional license taxes.

State Monopoly Plan. Under the Coleman bill, the system would be somewhat similar, except

HEARING ON REPEAL IS SET FOR THURSDAY

Public Invited to Committee Session on Bills to Abolish Prohibition.

A public hearing on prohibition repeal was called yesterday by the committee on temperance of the house of representatives following the introduction of the two bills from which the legislation is expected to obtain a measure which will meet the approval of the general assembly. The hearing will be at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the hall of the house. Chairman Sabados, of the temperance committee, announced following a conference of committee members. The bills offered yesterday, one by Representative Hastings, of Oglethorpe, and the other by Representative Theo W. Coleman, of Lowndes county, were referred to the Sabados committee.

"Because the material to be furnished the committee will be the same as that which would go before the senate committee, we will ask the members of the senate committee to temperance to sit with us throughout Thursday's hearing," Sabados said. "This will eliminate the necessity of a second hearing should a repeal bill pass the house."

Sabados said he expected to confer with Senator John Neely, of Manchester, N. H., and possibly with Senator Neely, the chairman of the senate temperance committee, calling his group together officially to participate in the hearing.

Dry Leaders to Appear. The days will be represented at the hearing by the Right Rev. William N. Gaines, bishop of the North Georgia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church; the Rev. Nath Thompson, president of the Georgia division of the Anti-Saloon League; and W. G. Gaines, Atlanta lawyer, representing the Baptist church and affiliated organizations.

Representatives Hastings and Coleman said they did not plan to have any non-members of the assembly on hand to speak in behalf of their bills. The questions of prohibition and repeal have been so well discussed that do not think it necessary to burden the assembly with lectures on the subject, but we, none-the-less, accord the opportunity to repeal the right to do so. Representative Hastings said, "I do not get displeased with those who do not agree with me. The state of Georgia and its subdivisions are losing millions of dollars a year by the continuance of prohibition and I feel the time has come for a change. I believe the balance of the assembly will agree with my feeling of the assembly."

Partial Text of Talk by Gallup Explaining Poll on Court Issue

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Following is a partial text of Dr. George Gallup's radio speech tonight explaining his poll of public opinion on Roosevelt's supreme court issue:

Press dispatches from Washington indicate that congress and the administration are waiting to hear the verdict of public opinion on the supreme court issue. A point has been reached in the discussion where the results of both parties are seeking the will of the people. A few hours after President Roosevelt announced his plan to reorganize the supreme court, the American Institute of Public Opinion set its polling machinery into operation. Ballots were started on their way to 150,000 voters who are being asked this question: "Are you in favor of President Roosevelt's proposal regarding the supreme court?"

PRELIMINARY RETURNS FROM NEW ENGLAND. The results will be reported every two or three days. Tonight I have incomplete preliminary returns from the six New England states. . . . The six New England states are Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island. Here are the first returns—the vote is very close. Against President Roosevelt's supreme court proposal, 53 per cent. In favor of his proposal, 47 per cent.

But the vote for New England is in contrast to what the first few hundred ballots from New York state showed. There the vote was just the other way around—preliminary returns showed a majority of 55 per cent in favor of the President's proposal. When all the ballots are in, we will not only have an accurate picture of the views of America's 46,000,000 voters, but also accurate information on the views of all the important groups—laborers, businessmen, farmers, persons on relief, young persons, women, Republicans, Democrats, Socialists. . . .

POLL IS CONDUCTED ON SCIENTIFIC LINES. The poll is being conducted along strictly scientific lines. It follows the sampling of cross-section method worked out by research men in the last presidential election in which the scientific polls which were correct, while the mass-ballot polls were wrong. . . . Many observers have speculated as to what might have happened in the last election if President Roosevelt's plan to reorganize the supreme court had been a direct vote on the supreme court campaign issue. It is likely that he would have won anyway. But the election could hardly have been a direct vote on the supreme court issue because that issue would have been mixed up with a dozen others, and overshadowed by the personalities of the two candidates. . . . It was to make it possible to ascertain the will of the majority on every great public issue that the American Institute of Public Opinion was founded.

Here Is Chief Executive's Tribute To Friend and Advisor Farley

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The text of President Roosevelt's speech at a dinner honoring James A. Farley follows: This dinner to Jim Farley is on the part of all of us a very personal affair. It is not one of those official banquets with a formal list of formal speakers, talking on formal subjects into the small hours of the night. It is not a political gathering, or a party gathering, or a victory gathering, or even a gathering to launch some mysterious plot or pull off some political stunt. The only label appropriate for this occasion is "Jim Farley and his friends. Many of us have known him through the years. Some of you have been associated with him for only a short time—but all of us have a common regard, a common affection for Jim Farley, which transcends formally because it is based on the man himself."

HISTORY WILL RECORD FARLEY'S SERVICE. History has recorded, and will continue to record, a great many interesting facts about Jim. In due time history will talk out loud about his younger days of local public service to his town and his county and his state. It will talk about his organizing of campaigns; it will speak of his fine service as the administrator of an important department of the federal government. It may even add his name to the distinguished list of major prophets. Even as the name of William Jennings Bryan sometimes suggests the arithmetic of sixteen to one, so perhaps the name of Jim Farley will suggest the more modern arithmetic of forty-six to two.

But when history is written, after all of us have passed from the scene, there will be something more important than the chronicle of success in accomplishment. Loyalty will be written there—that loyalty to friends which results in loyalty to friends. Honors and decency will be written there—the honor and decency which have done much to raise the standards of public service in our nation.

NONE IN AMERICA IS MORE COURAGEOUS Good temper will be written there that the state would own the package stores, and would sell liquor to eligible dispensers under the plan. These dispensers would include hotels, restaurants, clubs and dining cars, which could sell package liquor or mixed drinks. While the Hastings bill would levy a tax of 80 cents per wine gallon on liquor made in Georgia, and $1.00 on imported brands, the Coleman bill does not provide for a tax. Revenue from operation of the stores under direction of a three-man board named by the Governor would provide the state's income. The state, under the Coleman bill, also would be authorized to enter the distillery business, and the act would appropriate $250,000 in event such a decision were made. Another $250,000 would be appropriated for the board to set up its store system and administer the act. Stores could be located anywhere in the state at the discretion of the board. A maximum limit is placed on the licenses municipalities could levy against dealers the board licenses, and no provision is made for counties to levy a tax. The bills are not expected back on the house floor for some time. Thirty-nine days remain in the 60-day session.

Fisher-Cole Wedding Reception To Mark Three Important Dates

By Sally Forth.

NEVER did a wedding hold more of family interest than that at which Louise Fisher will become the bride of Frank Cole Jr. this evening at the Central Baptist church in Newnan. Of course it is quite natural, both bride-elect and future bridegroom being representatives of such large and prominent families, that much cordial interest should be aroused. But seldom do relatives best themselves to such an extent as have the members of Louise's family.

For instance, her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Powell, and her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Manget, had formerly planned to celebrate their wedding anniversaries jointly at a big party last Saturday evening, but when Louise's wedding date was set, it fell so near their anticipated date they decided to forego their own party in honor of the lovely bride-elect. Mrs. Powell, the former Ruth Hardaway, was married to Mr. Powell 25 years ago on February 14, and on the same date 23 years ago, Henriette Strickland became the bride of Paul Manget. So, in reality, the wedding reception, which will be held at the Powell home following the church service, will celebrate three important occasions in the bride-elect's family. Louise's uncle, W. C. McBride, and his daughter, Virginia, who is included in the bevy of attractive bridesmaids, also begged the privilege of acting as hosts at the reception which will assemble a brilliant company of Georgia society, in addition to the wide family circles of today's bride and groom. The assemblage will, of course, be augmented by a throng of prominent Atlantans who will motor to Newnan for the ceremony.

TO BE included on the dean's list at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., is a great honor, and Atlanta's pretty and blonde Rachel Burton has named on this list recently. Due to her splendid grades Rachel merited this honor, but she also finds time to have a good time. Last week end she and Isabel Boykin, who is a Stephens girl, too, went to St. Louis to attend the dances at Westminster Military Academy. They had a grand time, and soon they will leave studies behind them for nearly two weeks.

Spring vacation comes early to them this year, and March 6 will find Rachel arriving home for the holidays. However, Isabel decided to take an eastern trip with some sister students. The party will go first to New Orleans, where they will board a ship for New York. After a sojourn in Gotham, they will visit Washington and St. Louis, and even though Isabel will have a swell trip, the younger crowd here regrets that she will not come home instead.

KNITTING needles were flying fast at the recent meeting of the Iris Garden Club, for this versatile group of matrons can combine the study of horticulture and domestic art in a highly efficient manner. In fact, discussion of the variety of knitting bags almost eclipsed the interesting study of flowers. There was Mrs. Henry Troutman with the cutest new style "knitting apron," a huge pocket affair in which her needle work could be easily tucked away to reach the telephone or the like. There were even extra pockets for the balls of yarn, too.

Mrs. Carroll McGaughey had her work in a folding bag which she opened and stood on the floor beside her chair. Mrs. Dowdell Brown also chose a fancy bag, and Mrs. W. C. Wardlaw had hers in a painted tin ball which was gaily decorated in bright, colorful flowers. Then there was Mrs. Frank Spratt, who had a handsome brocade bag in vivid colors.

Best Cough Remedy Is Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking. To get the quickest relief from coughs due to colds, mix your own remedy at home. Once tried, you'll never use any other kind of cough medicine, and it's so simple and easy. First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed. Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugstore. This is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex in a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really better medicine than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste. And for quick, blessed relief, it has no equal. You can feel it penetrating the air passages in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded. (adv.)

PERRIN WALKER RUNS SATURDAY ON N.Y.A.C. BILL

Nation's Greatest Athletes in Another Assault on Indoor Records.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—An indoor assault will be waged on world records Saturday when the nation's greatest athletes assemble in Madison Square Garden for the New York Athletic Club's annual indoor season.

Heading the all-star field will be three athletes who lowered international marks at Boston last week. Don Blake, who clipped two-tenths of a second off his 100-yard dash, will try to travel still faster. He will meet much the same field he beat at Boston including the 100-yard dash, Wayne and Blaine, of North Texas Teachers College, Joe McCluskey, and Tommy Deckard, of Indiana, who won the 100-yard dash.

George Varoff, the Oregon sophomore who raised the pole vault record to 14 ft. 4.75 inches, again will oppose Earle Meadows, southern California's Olympic champion, and Japan's Suso Oye, who cleared the bar at 14 ft. 3 inches in his American debut at the Milwaukee event.

Sam Allen, the Oklahoma Baptist hurdler who lowered the 45-yard high hurdle mark to 5.7 seconds at Boston and Johnny Donovan, of Dartmouth, who beat him in 5.8 in the final, are expected to renew their rivalry at 60 yards.

The 60-yard sprint will see Perrin Walker, Georgia Tech's surprise winner at last week's indoor games, meeting such good sprinters as Ben Johnson, of Columbia; Marty Glickman, of Tennessee; and Enlace Peacock, of Temple.

Glenn Cunningham again is favored to beat Gene Venzke in the 100-yard dash. Cunningham, who won the 100-yard dash at the indoor games, will bring together a high class field including John Woodruff, of Pittsburgh, and Elroy Robinson, national 800-meter champion from San Francisco, while Jimmy Herbert, of New York University, will seek his fourth straight victory of the year in the 100-meter "500" opposing Syracuse's Eddie O'Brien and Al Fitch, of Southern California.

CRACKER PILOT BEATS BRAXTON

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Eddie Moore, manager of the Atlanta Crackers, today defeated the Tampa Bay Rays in a game that was a blow to the Braves' hopes of winning the National League pennant.

Moore, who hit a home run in the first inning, led the Crackers to a 4-1 victory. The Rays, who were favored to win, were out of the game in the first inning.

The Milwaukee hurler was low qualified for the tournament with 150 for the 36 holes. Moore qualified with a 73.

Other results included: Johnny Moore, Phillips, defeated Charles Proffitt, 1 up; M. J. Marks defeated J. C. Conner, 1 up; 6 and 5; Lloyd Waver, Pittsburgh, defeated Vernon Kilmichael, 1 up on the 19th; Bill Smith, Pittsburgh, defeated Captain A. J. Brandon, 1 up on the 19th; J. S. Somerville, defeated J. C. Conner, 1 up; Walter (Butch) Hedline, former Brooklyn catcher, defeated Dr. H. E. Shaver, 1 up.

Here and There in Sports

By Scotty Reston.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians can probably get Lou Gehrig from the Yankees right now if they want to give up Hal Trosky for him. The Indians, who are in a guessing game, either... The Lou Gehrig-Jake Ruppert fight, like an iceberg, is nine-tenths below the surface. The one-tenth that is visible is the fact that the nine-tenths may roll over and bounce Lou right off the club.

Dave MacMillan, Minnesota's basketball coach, has made the coach's job of the winter... Gopher fans had two strikes on him before he started this year... Fed up on football victories, they are now looking for a change in the league leadership, having lost one game to Ohio State by that margin.

Explaining this record, the fans say the coaches are complex of the football squad has merely spread to basketball, and MacMillan gets little credit... Ken Torzo, of Buffalo, son of Rocky Kansas, former lightweight champion, is a member of the University of Pennsylvania boxing squad.

Who did this fellow "Ir" Tubbs, the new Iowa coach, ever develop? Several fans have asked. Well, as coach at Central High in Superior, Wis., he developed a boy called Nevers—Ernie Nevers... Ever hear of him? Energetic young "Weenie" Wilkerson, the Illinois athletic director, is toying with an interesting idea... For seeing prolonged industrial labor strife in this country, he is planning a combined athletic coaching-industrial management course... Young coaches would study means of improving working conditions and personnel morale through a well-organized athletic program.

For Your Dog---'Nighties' of Crash Linen---No Foolin'!

"Does 'um doggums love 'um mummykins?" Well, all I've got to say, after reading the reports of the Westminster dog show, is that if doggums doesn't love his mummykins then doggums is either dumb or disgusted. Maybe both.

The dog fashions were on display at the Westminster show. I almost missed the item which was tucked away on a back page. But it was better reading than the show.

There was on display—and for sale: Custom tailored gabardine trench coats and tweed ulsters. The tweed was imported.

For the ky-yoodle which must go out in wet weather and may get his cute little feet wet, there are galoshes. For rough country wear there were leather boots. But the item which laid me among the sweet peas and had me calling an office boy to bring not one but two bowls of black coffee from the Hanjaras brothers, was this:

"Nighties"—of linen crash. Can't you just imagine calling in Old Lead, your favorite Walker fox hound, and putting some galoshes on him. Or maybe some boots if the going is rough.

And having some leather boots for your favorite pointer and setter? And don't forget the "nightie" of crash linen. There was one more little item. It now is possible to buy canine candy—in bon-bons or drops.

It is a bit sad to contemplate what a lot of good dogs have to endure.

And I am pretty sure they aren't permitted to have a few fleas now and then. Fleas, it is said, are good for a dog because they make him forget he is a dog.

It would be interesting, just in passing, to have a few vital statistics on how many dogs are wearing galoshes, boots and crash linen nighties.

THE WORLD SERIES OF DOGS.

This world series of the dog world was held last week in New York with Flornel Spicypiece as the champion. Flornel Spicypiece is an imported wire and she was rated out in front of exactly 3,146 dogs entered in the annual Westminster show.

There were no poodles up in front this year. The poodle has a great record. He comes of a fine history but somehow or other he was divorced from the ranks of sporting dogs and made into a lap dog.

He feels pretty sorry for himself. And this accounts for the fact that he sort of gives up as he grows old and fat. He develops asthma and red eyes and a bad temper. A couple of shoes back a poodle won first place.

But this year a wire and a cocker spaniel went right down to the finish line with the imported wire winning. Dog shows are great affairs. They practically have been taken over by the professionals. The dog lover is quite rare in this group. The professional handlers do all the showing and an amateur who takes his pooch to the show because he thinks it is a good one, has two strikes on him before he starts.

The professional knows how to use chalk in the coats of the wires and how to use a stripping knife. He also knows how to make the pooch strike an attitude he never strikes in real life. This is the same position which the horse show people like. The boss gets his front feet out together and his back feet out behind him. He is all spraddled out in a position which isn't natural and which doesn't look natural. The dog gets the same treatment.

The professional handler knows how to use a small piece of liver to cause the dog to perk up and look sharp. Some of them use a small imitation mouse flavored with catnip or chocolate. And this is supposed to make the dog perk up and act alive.

Those dogs which have their ears trimmed because style decrees it, will have their ears perked up for them. No one will recall the long weeks in which the knife-trimmed ears remained in a wire frame.

There doesn't seem to be much love for a dog at a dog show. But then, maybe there is.

THE DOGS KNOW.

The dogs who travel the circuit and whose lives are just one crate and show ring after another, soon learn the act. They know what they are there for. I have seen some of the dogs which had won at major shows across a span of a couple of years, act just about as a professional team acts in baseball or basketball. Or any other sport.

They come out of their crates, yawn and stretch. And then walk around a bit. They yawn some more and then sit around and look.

They submit to a little trimming here and there and some more chalk in the coat or some other treatment with a bored air.

But once the show is on they do their act. They are appealing little cusses, even when made artificial for show purposes. There were 25,000 people at the Madison Square Garden Westminster show. And they went a bit wild about the English winner.

The new wire is a pure white. Which will set, I suspect, some sort of a style.

The American bred champion, the cocker spaniel, made the finals a great show, according to reports. The cocker is in danger of meeting the same fate as met by the poodle. Both originally were field dogs. The poodle isn't used in the field any more. And if it were not for the spaniel field trials the cocker inevitably would become a lap dog, too, and rank with the peke, the pom and the poodle.

I hope that cockers and schnauzers and danes and other great dogs haven't yet reached the galoshes-boots-linen nightie stage.

It all is just a mite discouraging.

Coach Alex Reports Grid Rules Changes

Returning yesterday from the annual rules meeting of the N. C. A. A. Coach W. A. Alexander, a member of the committee, reported the following changes:

(a)—A substitute henceforth will not have to report at the beginning of the second half, thus eliminating a needless waste of time.

(b)—Numbers fore and aft must be worn on players' jerseys, six-inch letters in the front and eight-inch letters on the back.

G. M. A. QUARTET MEETS TYPISTS THIS AFTERNOON

Monroe and Boys' High Clash Tonight on Aggie Court.

By Roy White.

G. M. A.'s newly crowned city championship basketball team can clinch fourth place and at the same time remain in a fighting chance for second place in the Big Seven standings with a victory over Commercial High at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the College Park court. It will be the only game here and the feature of the fifth round of the second half of the Big Seven race.

Monroe Aggies, the league's leaders, will play Boys' High tonight on the Monroe court and Columbus High battles Columbus Industrial at Columbus in another feature. That Columbus game will be for second place as both have won six and lost two at present.

Decatur plays Spalding High a double-header tonight at Griffin in the only scrap between members of the North Georgia Interscholastic conference. Only one other game, Russell High at Fulton Thursday afternoon, will be played in the independent N. G. I. C. games before the annual tournament next week on the Fulton High court.

Commercial with a vastly improved team should give G. M. A. plenty of trouble this afternoon, with a chance to the Tech High for fifth place and remain at the head of the second division of the league for the season.

Marlin Loyd's return has made a decided improvement in the Commercial lineup. Stone has been out with the flu and Lawhon is on the temporary ineligible list. Stone is slated to return to action this week and it is likely that Lawhon will make up a deficiency and get back into the game by the latter part of the week.

Columbus Industrial proved the league's dark horse by turning back the last Monroe Aggie five last Friday night at Columbus. The Industrials have lost only to G. M. A. and Monroe at Monroe, while Columbus High, tied with the Industrials for second place, has lost to Monroe and the Industrials.

Monroe Aggies, despite their loss to the Industrials last week, are still favored to win their second Big Seven championship for only Boys' High, G. M. A. and Columbus High remain on the schedule.

Boys' High should not extend the Aggies tonight, but the remaining games with Columbus at Columbus and G. M. A. at College Park will be plenty tough for the Aggies to hurdle.

The semi-final and final rounds will be played next week, with the annual tournament scheduled to open Wednesday night, March 3, on the Savannah court.

Boys' High will play Columbus High at 8 o'clock Wednesday night on the Henry Grady court in a game postponed from February 5.

Atlanta's prep fans will have an opportunity to see every member of the Big Seven in action here this week with the exception of the Monroe Aggies and Columbus Industrial, who have completed their Atlanta games for the season.

Mrs. Solomon's 78 Leads Qualifiers

PALE BEACH, Fla., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Leon Solomon, of Memphis, Tenn., took the medalist honors with a 78 in the 18-hole qualifying round of the annual women's golf tournament at the Palm Beach Country Club.

She put together a pair of 39's to outscore such stars as Patty Berg, of Minneapolis, second with 80, and Marion Miller, of Lexington, Ky.; Kathryn Henrich, of Columbia, S. C.; and Helen Dettweiler, of Washington, who were bracketed at 82.

A score of 88 was good enough to get into the first flight of 16 for 36 days of match play starting tomorrow.

Cumming Wins Pair From Jasper Teams

CUMMING, Ga., Feb. 15.—Cumming High girls, both boys and girls, scored a smashing double victory over the highly rated Jasper teams in Saturday night before a large crowd.

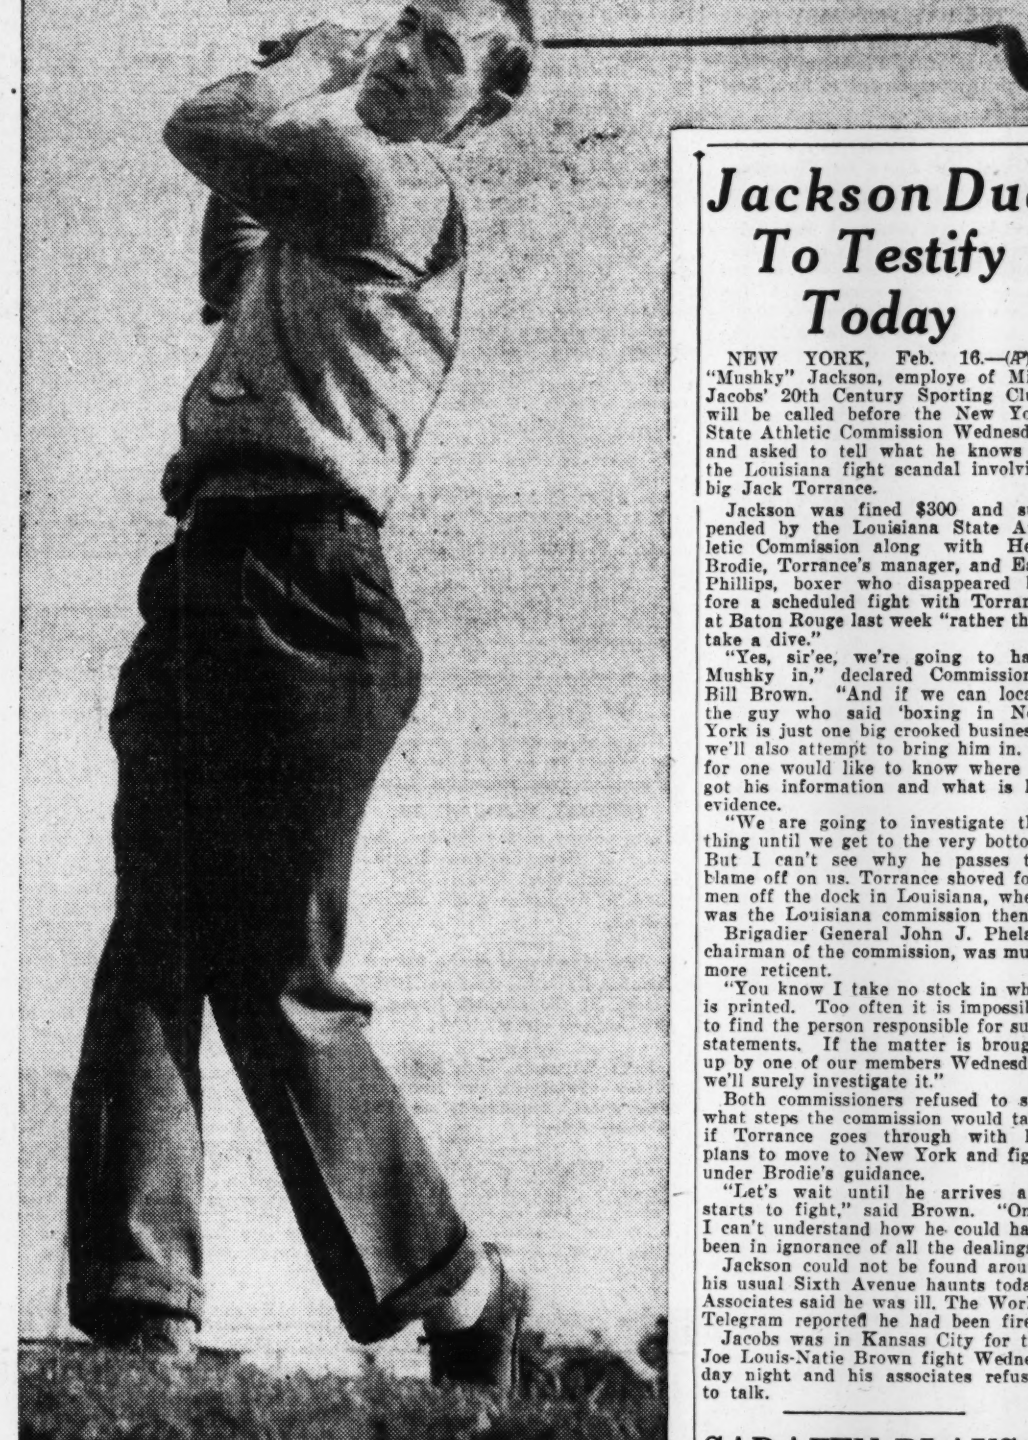

Cumming girls, winning their 24th game in 27 starts, completely outplayed the Jasper ladies, who had conquered such teams as Lawrenceville, Nelson and Canton this season. The score was 23-12 while Montie Warren's 12 points setting the pace for the winners. It was the girls' 12th straight win.

The boys won even easier, beating the Jasper five, 28-20. Tims sank 15 points to lead the winning attack. Cumming's two teams have stamped themselves as dangerous contenders for the ninth district titles.

Jackson Due To Testify Today

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—"Mushy" Jackson, employee of Mike Jacobs' 20th Century Sporting Club, will be called before the New York State Athletic Commission Wednesday and asked to testify what he knows of the Louisiana fight scandal involving big Jack Torrance.

Jackson was fined $300 and suspended by the Louisiana State Athletic Commission along with Herb Brodie, Torrance's manager, and Earl Phillips, boxer who disappeared before a scheduled fight with Torrance at Baton Rouge last week "rather than take a dive."

"Yes, sir, we're going to have Mushy in," declared Commissioner Bill Brown. "And if we can locate the guy who said 'boxing in New York is just one big crooked business,' we'll also attempt to bring him in. For one would like to know where he got his information and what is his evidence."

"We are going to investigate this thing until we get to the very bottom. But I can't see why he passes the blame off on us. Torrance showed four men off the dock in Louisiana, where was the Louisiana commission then?" Brigadier General John J. Phelan, chairman of the commission, was much more reticent.

"You know I take no stock in what is printed. JACKSON is impossible to find the person responsible for such statements. If the matter is brought up by one of our members Wednesday we'll surely investigate it. Both commissioners refused to say what steps the commission would take if Torrance goes through with his plans to move to New York and fight under Brodie's guidance."

"Let's wait until he arrives and starts to fight," said Brown. "Only I can't understand how he could have been in ignorance of all the dealings."

Jackson could not be found around his usual Sixth Avenue haunts today. Associates said he was ill. The World-Telegram reported he had been fired. Jacobs was in Kansas City for the Joe Louis-Nate Brown fight Wednesday night and his associates refused to talk.

SARAZEN PLAYS AT THOMASVILLE

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 15.—(AP)—The names of Gene Sarazen, Craig Wood, Jimmy Hines, Ed Dudley and Dick Metz have been added to the growing list of entries for the $3,000 Thomasville open golf tournament to be held at Glen Arven Country Club this weekend.

The new additions to the star-studded entry list have made hotel reservations for the tournament, and Sarazen has been entered in the 18-hole pro-amateur tournament paired with Morton Bright, amateur from Albany, Ga. The pro-amateur will be held Thursday, a day before the start of the second annual three-day 72-hole open tournament.

Sarazen, Hines and Dudley played in last year's tournament with Sarazen finishing in fourth place behind Johnny Revolta, Vic Ghezzi and Ky Laffoon.

With such stars as Revolta, Horton Smith, Tony Manero, Paul Runyan, Harry Cooper, Lawson Little, Henry Picard and other famous golfers entered, the Thomasville open is assured of one of the classic fields of California and the south this year. Pros returning to the tournament from California and many who have remained in Florida during the current season will meet here to renew the winter tournament trail in the south.

Sharpsshooters already here for practice rounds include Ky Laffoon, Dick Metz and Joe Jensen, all of Chicago; Ed Oliver, Wilmington, Del.; Frank Moore, Cleveland; Red Francis, Bellefonte, Pa.; and Tommy Sullivan, of Moultrie, Ga.

CHANGING JOBS IS NOT SIMPLE, HE POINTS OUT

Tigah Man Hopeful He'll Play; Boosts Detroit Pitching Staff.

By Jack Troy.

From the clubhouse of the College Park golf course, one may see every green. And yesterday it appeared as if a heel and toe marathon were in progress. A string of figures bobbed up and down over hill and dale.

It was no marathon, however. It was simply Jo Jo White's golf party trying to keep up with him. White goes around a golf course like a steam locomotive.

The Tigah man returned late Sunday night from Detroit, where he has spent part of the winter. He lost no time in getting out on a course and limbering up his legs, which are a pair of the faster legs in big league baseball.

White said he had been hearing the report he was scheduled to play center field again. "I hope it's true," he said. "All I ask is the chance."

ALREADY SIGNED. Jo Jo signed up a couple of weeks ago. But he hasn't had a chance to talk with Manager Mickey Cochrane. The little Tigah man looked to be in good shape.

"The only outfielder who apparently has his job sewed up is Gerald Walker, who has been in the outfield for a long time. I presume Del Baker was acting under orders from Mickey."

"I don't know how the rest of the outfield will line up. But I am pretty sure Hank Greenberg won't be used out there. He'll probably remain at first base. He's a top-notch first baseman and he is, I understand, fully recovered from his arm injury."

"No, I don't think they'll use Greenberg in the outfield. Some seem to think just anybody can play the outfield, but if a player can't get at some other position, he can't go to the outfield and make the grade."

NEED FAST OUTFIELD. "I think the value of an outfield was brought home to the Tigers last year. When you put a couple of slow men out there, the difference is readily seen."

White doesn't understand all this talk about the Detroit pitching staff being questionable. "School Boy Rowe, Elden Auker and Tommy Bridges are three starting pitchers as good as any you will find."

White also praised Lefty Wade, a recruit. "I think, with one more pitcher, the Tiger staff will be as strong as any of them."

"There has been a lot of talk of using Pete Fox in a trade for another pitcher. The Tigers, of course, want Bud Newhouse."

YORK VS. GREENBERG. White was of the opinion that Rudy York, Carterville boy and a great minor league first baseman, will have to fight it out with Greenberg for a regular job. For, as said, he doesn't see Greenberg going to the outfield.

"I've talked with Hank and he thinks he will be back on first base," Jo Jo said.

White said the Tigers should be a strong contender again with both Manager Cochrane and Greenberg back in the fold. Cochrane was sick most of last year.

As to himself, he only said, "I hope they give me a chance."

White, a southpaw, shot himself a snappy 45 on the wiffle ball College Park course, and went back around with the intention of bagging a 42.

Par is 36. Before he strode off down the fairway, he said, "I've been deer hunting several times this year in upper Michigan, but I still have my first deer to kill."

"That report I had bagged a buck is slightly erroneous. I was standing pretty close to a fellow who did kill one, though. He told people I had killed it. My conscience is hurting me after telling all those stories about how it felt to shoot a deer. Golf is the only thing I have shot this winter, and I haven't done much damage to the grand old game."

Jeff Molie, Key pro, spent his off day yesterday by playing the C. P. course for the first time.

Brouillard Loses To Thil on Foul

PARIS, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Battle-scarred Marcel Thil, of France, retained his equally battle-scarred claim to the world middleweight championship tonight by turning back the third challenge of Lou Brown, of Worcester, Mass., in a bout that almost duplicated their second meeting a year ago.

Thil was awarded the verdict on a foul in the sixth round while a crowd of close to 12,000 howled and roared its disapproval. Their 1936 meeting ended in a similar disputed foul in the fourth. The first time they met Thil won a 12-round decision.

The blow which sent Thil down in the sixth, a squashing right, appeared to rattle him, but he came back on his feet. The Frenchman, however, clutched at his middle as he dropped on one knee and a puzzled referee first counted him out, then went into a consultation with the judges before arriving at the decision he had been fabled.

RUTH IN BERMUDA.

The Atlanta association will sponsor the southern tourney and urges every member to be present at the meeting this afternoon.

Florida Scares Tech But Loses 43-37

BEN JONES LOST TO JACKET TEAM FOR TOURNEY

Reserves Fail To Protect Varsity's Big Lead, Gators Almost Win.

By Jack Troy.

With less than two minutes left to play last night, Josh Cody's fighting Gators from the University of Florida were only four points behind the Tech Jackets.

That forms the basis for one of the greatest comeback stories ever written about a Florida team.

With 10 minutes left in the game, Tech led by 22 points, 38 to 16. The great goal shooting of Ben Johnston and Ed Jones, plus brilliant passing and ball handling had the Gators on the ropes, to mix a metaphor.

Then Coach Roy Munford sent in substitutes for Whack Hyder, Acting Captain Fletcher Sims and Ed Johnston.

Florida cut loose. And that Tech finally won, 43 to 37, was a tribute to the last-minute play of Johnston, Hyder and Ed Jones. The first two were rushed back in to save the game.

MAD GAME. Verily, it was one of the maddest, wildest, comeliest Florida team ever made. It was a stunning rally that was kept going by Cliff Whidden, whose spectacular one-handed shots almost wrecked Tech; Floyd Christian, Charley Krajcar and Chas. son.

An amazed gallery saw the fighting Gators score 21 points while Tech scored five. All this took place in the last 10 minutes of play, as Florida apparently hopelessly beaten.

Trailing only four points, Florida's Floyd Christian broke for the basket and had a crisp shot. He put the ball up there and it hung on the rim of the basket. It was a tense, dramatic moment. If it dropped through Florida would have only two points to go to tie up the game. But the ball wobbled on the rim and fell to the court.

SAVES TECH. This break probably saved Tech. Johnston and Hyder rushed back in and led the fight to keep the ball. And when Ed Jones made a great follow up of a shot to score the final goal, the game was over. Florida's play, and Tech's unbeaten conference record was saved.

It was a wild, rough game from the start. And Referee Claude Bond had his hands full. Whack Hyder, after tooting the whistle too much and the teams were given a sort of freedom of the range.

Tech's first team was entirely too smooth for Florida. The Jackets left the floor at the half leading, 20 to 7.

Coach Munford left perfectly safe in sending in the first substitutes after 10 minutes of play following the intermission when the advantage was 38 to 16 in Tech's favor.

TRICK SHOT. Do Johnston's trick shot, a one-handed overhead shot with his back to the basket, seemed to be a signal for substitutes. Florida appeared a routed, disorganized team. But they proved to be Tech's most dangerous conference foe of the season.

Johnston again led his mates in scoring with 18 points. Ed Jones was runner-up with 14. In floor play and on defense, Sims, Hyder and Jordan shone.

The victory was Tech's eighth straight in the conference. Only two foes remain between them and a perfect record—Georgia and Auburn. The Bulldogs play here Saturday night. Tech goes to Auburn Monday night.

Loss of Ben Jones for the remainder of the season and the conference tournament was seen as a probability last night. Jones' doctor has ordered him to quit practicing because of sinus trouble and weakness following an attack of flu. Tech's leading scorer of last season was advised to heed the doctor's advice by Coach Munford.

CRACK SHOT. Jones, a crack shot from Canton, has been used sparingly all season because of his condition. He got up too soon after an attack of flu, he believes, and sinus trouble has further weakened him.

It may be that rest will enable him to rejoin the team for the tournament. But the ensuing period in which he can not practice will hardly enable

RIDICULOUS, SAYS GOMEZ OF YANKS' NEW SALARY BID

Ruppert Boosts Original Offer to $10,000, But Lefty Is Insulted.

By Scotty Reston.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Vernon Gomez may be "goofy," but not enough to pitch for the New York Yankees for $10,000.

Toget most conservative gray suit, Gomez spent a stormy 10 minutes crying in Colonel Jake Ruppert's brewery today. The colonel boosted his original offer to $10,000. Gomez termed this "ridiculous" and walked out.

The Yankees already had announced the signing of Pitcher Pat Malone and Outfielder Merrill Hoag when Gomez telephoned the colonel.

"He told me to come over at 11 o'clock," explained "Lefty." "I was told 15 minutes ahead of time, he told me to come right in, and I was out of there before I was due."

Gomez last year received $30,000. He did not have a good year, though he won 13 games and lost 7. The Yankees offered him $7,500 in his original 1937 contract.

QUIT GOLF GAME. "I was on the 14th hole of a golf course down in Bermuda when the contract arrived," described Lefty. "They brought it out to me on the course. I read it and didn't play another stroke. I hit my ball into the trees and started for the clubhouse."

Gomez said the contract ruined his vacation, and added: "But it's just as well I came away from there. Guys making $7,500 have no right taking vacations in Bermuda."

The Yankee pitcher said he will go back and talk to Colonel Ruppert tonight.

"I can see the colonel's point of view. He has paid me $40,000 in the last two years. He told me this morning he paid me that because in 1934 I was the best pitcher in the American league. He also told me he didn't think I was the best in the last two years. I agree with him, and I agree with the rest of the world, but not a cut like he suggests."

MORE EXPERIENCED. Gomez pointed out that he made more than $7,500 when he pitched in 1932. He reasons that he is more experienced and worth more now than he was then.

Lefty admits this is good money, but describes the Ruppert's offer as "humiliating." He says he pitched some ball when he was in Bermuda and never felt better in his life.

CHAMBLEE BOYS RETAIN DEKALB COUNTY HONORS

Defeat Tucker, 24 to 15; South DeKalb Takes Amship.

By Scotty Reston.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Vernon Gomez may be "goofy," but not enough to pitch for the New York Yankees for $10,000.

Toget most conservative gray suit, Gomez spent a stormy 10 minutes crying in Colonel Jake Ruppert's brewery today. The colonel boosted his original offer to $10,000. Gomez termed this "ridiculous" and walked out.

The Yankees already had announced the signing of Pitcher Pat Malone and Outfielder Merrill Hoag when Gomez telephoned the colonel.

"He told me to come over at 11 o'clock," explained "Lefty." "I was told 15 minutes ahead of time, he told me to come right in, and I was out of there before I was due."

Gomez last year received $30,000. He did not have a good year, though he won 13 games and lost 7. The Yankees offered him $7,500 in his original 1937 contract.

QUIT GOLF GAME. "I was on the 14th hole of a golf course down in Bermuda when the contract arrived," described Lefty. "They brought it out to me on the course. I read it and didn't play another stroke. I hit my ball into the trees and started for the clubhouse."

Gomez said the contract ruined his vacation, and added: "But it's just as well I came away from there. Guys making $7,500 have no right taking vacations in Bermuda."

The Yankee pitcher said he will go back and talk to Colonel Ruppert tonight.

"I can see the colonel's point of view. He has paid me $40,000 in the last two years. He told me this morning he paid me that because in 1934 I was the best pitcher in the American league. He also told me he didn't think I was the best in the last two years. I agree with him, and I agree with the rest of the world, but not a cut like he suggests."

MORE EXPERIENCED. Gomez pointed out that he made more than $7,500 when he pitched in 1932. He reasons that he is more experienced and worth more now than he was then.

Lefty admits this is good money, but describes the Ruppert's offer as "humiliating." He says he pitched some ball when he was in Bermuda and never felt better in his life.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(F.)—Reported increasing severity of dust storms in southwest lifted prices today for new crop futures, but failed to overcome

All future deliveries of wheat there, both new and old, dropped temporarily a cent or more a bushel, responsive to complete failure that the United States market showed to reflect Saturday's steep upturn in Chicago quotations.

The Liverpool wheat market, which was down 7-8 to 1-4 cents higher, closed today 7-8 to 1-3-8 cents lower. An opposite factor as the day drew to an end was notice that for the second time in succession the United States visible stock on all grains showed a decided decrease.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures ranged from 7-8 to 1-4 cents higher, 1-3-8 higher compared with Saturday's finish. May 137 1-8 to 137 1-4, July 119 1-8 to 119 1-4. September 114 3-4 to 114 1-2. The stock market, which was up May 100 7-8 to 100 3-4, July 104 3-4 to 104 1-8. September 97 3-4; oats at 3-8 decline to 1-8 advance. May 51 1-4, and rye showing 1-4 to 3-4 bulge, May 114 1-4.

The outcome in provisions was unchanged to 32 cents decline.

Brokers' Views

STOCK OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—The volume in Monday's market on the down side as compared to the volume last week on the rise would seem to indicate a brief and limited reaction only.

FENNER & BEANE.—We still believe irregularity in price movements over the near term is probable with the extent of any further recession depending largely upon news developments with respect to the administration's attempt to limit and regulate the advance.

THOMSON & MCKINNON.—Wall Street was not particularly surprised by the further setback in the stock market, but which is goodly measure was attributed to normal profit-taking believed along with little reprieve by some nervous selling on fears of a further decline in the market. The situation in American securities by foreigners.

BEER & CO.—We expect some further irregularity in the market, but are unable to resume the advance.

COTTON OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—The trade appears to be awaiting new developments in reference to the sale of long cotton or pending crop legislation. However, we continue to favor the present position.

FENNER & BEANE.—Technical conditions appear to favor a well-sustained, but pending developments at Washington.

THOMSON & MCKINNON.—The continued agrarian world absorption of cotton is a check against price declines for the present and we do not look for more than temporary price sales sell much under present level.

BEER & CO.—We believe the market is active side of the market on material recessions.

GRAIN OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—We feel that the day crop situation is tightening and consequently advocate purchases of the May crop.

FENNER & BEANE.—The old crop statistical position is becoming stronger and we do not look for more than temporary recessions in the May.

THOMSON & MCKINNON.—Continuance of unfavorable crop news may make for further declines in July.

BEER & CO.—We are of the opinion purchases of grains made at current levels will prove profitable.

COTTONSEED OIL.

FENNER & BEANE.—We believe market can be purchased on any further recessions.

TARZAN'S QUEST No. 50

Tarzan drew closer to the two recumbent figures. By the man's regular breathing, he knew that Ydeni slept; but his slumber was not yet deep enough to satisfy the ape-man. He must take the girl by stealth, for he had no wish to arouse the Kavuru warrior. . .

. . . In Tarzan's eyes was the determination to save the black girl; but far away in the jungle, eyes of sinister import were turned on Tarzan's mate, the covetous eyes of Prince Sborov. "I'll go with you into the jungle to look for aid," he repeated suavely.

"Why, Alexis," cried the scandalized princess; "think of Jane's reputation. If you go, I'll go too." "That's right," her husband stormed; "making a burden of yourself again. You got me into this mess, you old fool—you and your elixir of youth."

Alexis caught his breath and resumed. "Why, you've had your face lifted so many times it's a disgrace! You and your . . . Jane's sharp look halted his furious reproach. "I had no intention of taking you," she said; "I go alone, at dawn!"

FLOOD PERIL ALLAYED ALL ALONG MISSISSIPPI

Backwaters From Yazoo River Drive Many Lowlanders From Homes, However

VICKSBURG, Miss., Feb. 15.—(AP) Major Raymond G. Moses, of the Mississippi river commission, said today the fight to get the Ohio's flood water down the Mississippi before possible dangerous rises of other tributaries had been won.

For weeks apprehension has been felt as to whether the Mississippi's mighty levees could keep the water of tributaries other than the Ohio back from their tops if those tributaries all came down at the same time.

Major Moses disclosed that concern over the prospect of a wall of water pouring down the Mississippi resulting from confluence of the Arkansas and the Red rivers had been dispelled.

He predicted the Mississippi's dikes would hold and those of the Atchafalaya river through which it will dump part of its water burden would hold also.

Hundreds of workers were busy today building up the levee on a low stretch above the Red river in lower Concordia parish, Louisiana.

Flood fighters were kept busy with sandbags in the Tunica county, Mississippi, area at Vicksburg, where the Moon lake and other places, but engineers said none of them were alarming.

Backwaters from the Yazoo river were driving many lowlanders from their homes in Mississippi. Refugees were quartered at Vicksburg and Natchez. No lives were reported lost.
